WOMAN PASSENGER FINDS New Zepp Lacks Just One Thing

Can You Guess It?

By Lady Drummond Hay
New York, May 31.
FROM Flushing to America in fifty-five hours and fifteen minutes; from near by Southampton to New York in fifty-two hours forty-five minutes; from Friedrichshafen to New York in sixty hours fifteen minutes.

These are the time records established by the Hindenburg when we cruised over the sleeping City of New York yesterday, and later moored at Lakehurst, New Jersey.

A woman passenger writes:

"We flew at heights between 800 and 3,000 feet above the grey Atlantic, through mists, clouds, rains and squalls, over icebergs—and all so smoothly that we hardly realised that we were moving—free from the noise and the motion of the airplane, from the rattle and shaking of a train, the rolling and pitching of an ocean liner.

"I have only one criticism of the Hindenburg to make. There is not one long mirror where a woman can view herself at full length.

LIKE A DREAM

"The airship's greatest speed was ninety miles an hour; her average speed for the entire flight 69 miles an hour.

"Often I wanted to pinch myself to make sure I was not dreaming. Even to me, a veteran Zeppelin traveller, it did not seem easy to realise that these beautiful rooms and all they contained—carpets, modern electric fittings, chairs,

SOCIAL CREDIT—HOPE!

Mr. Abernethy, the Social Credit Premier of Alberta, still hopes to achieve his 25-month-for-everyone plan in the lifetime of the present session of the Alberta Legislature, he told a Bible Institute meeting at Calgary.

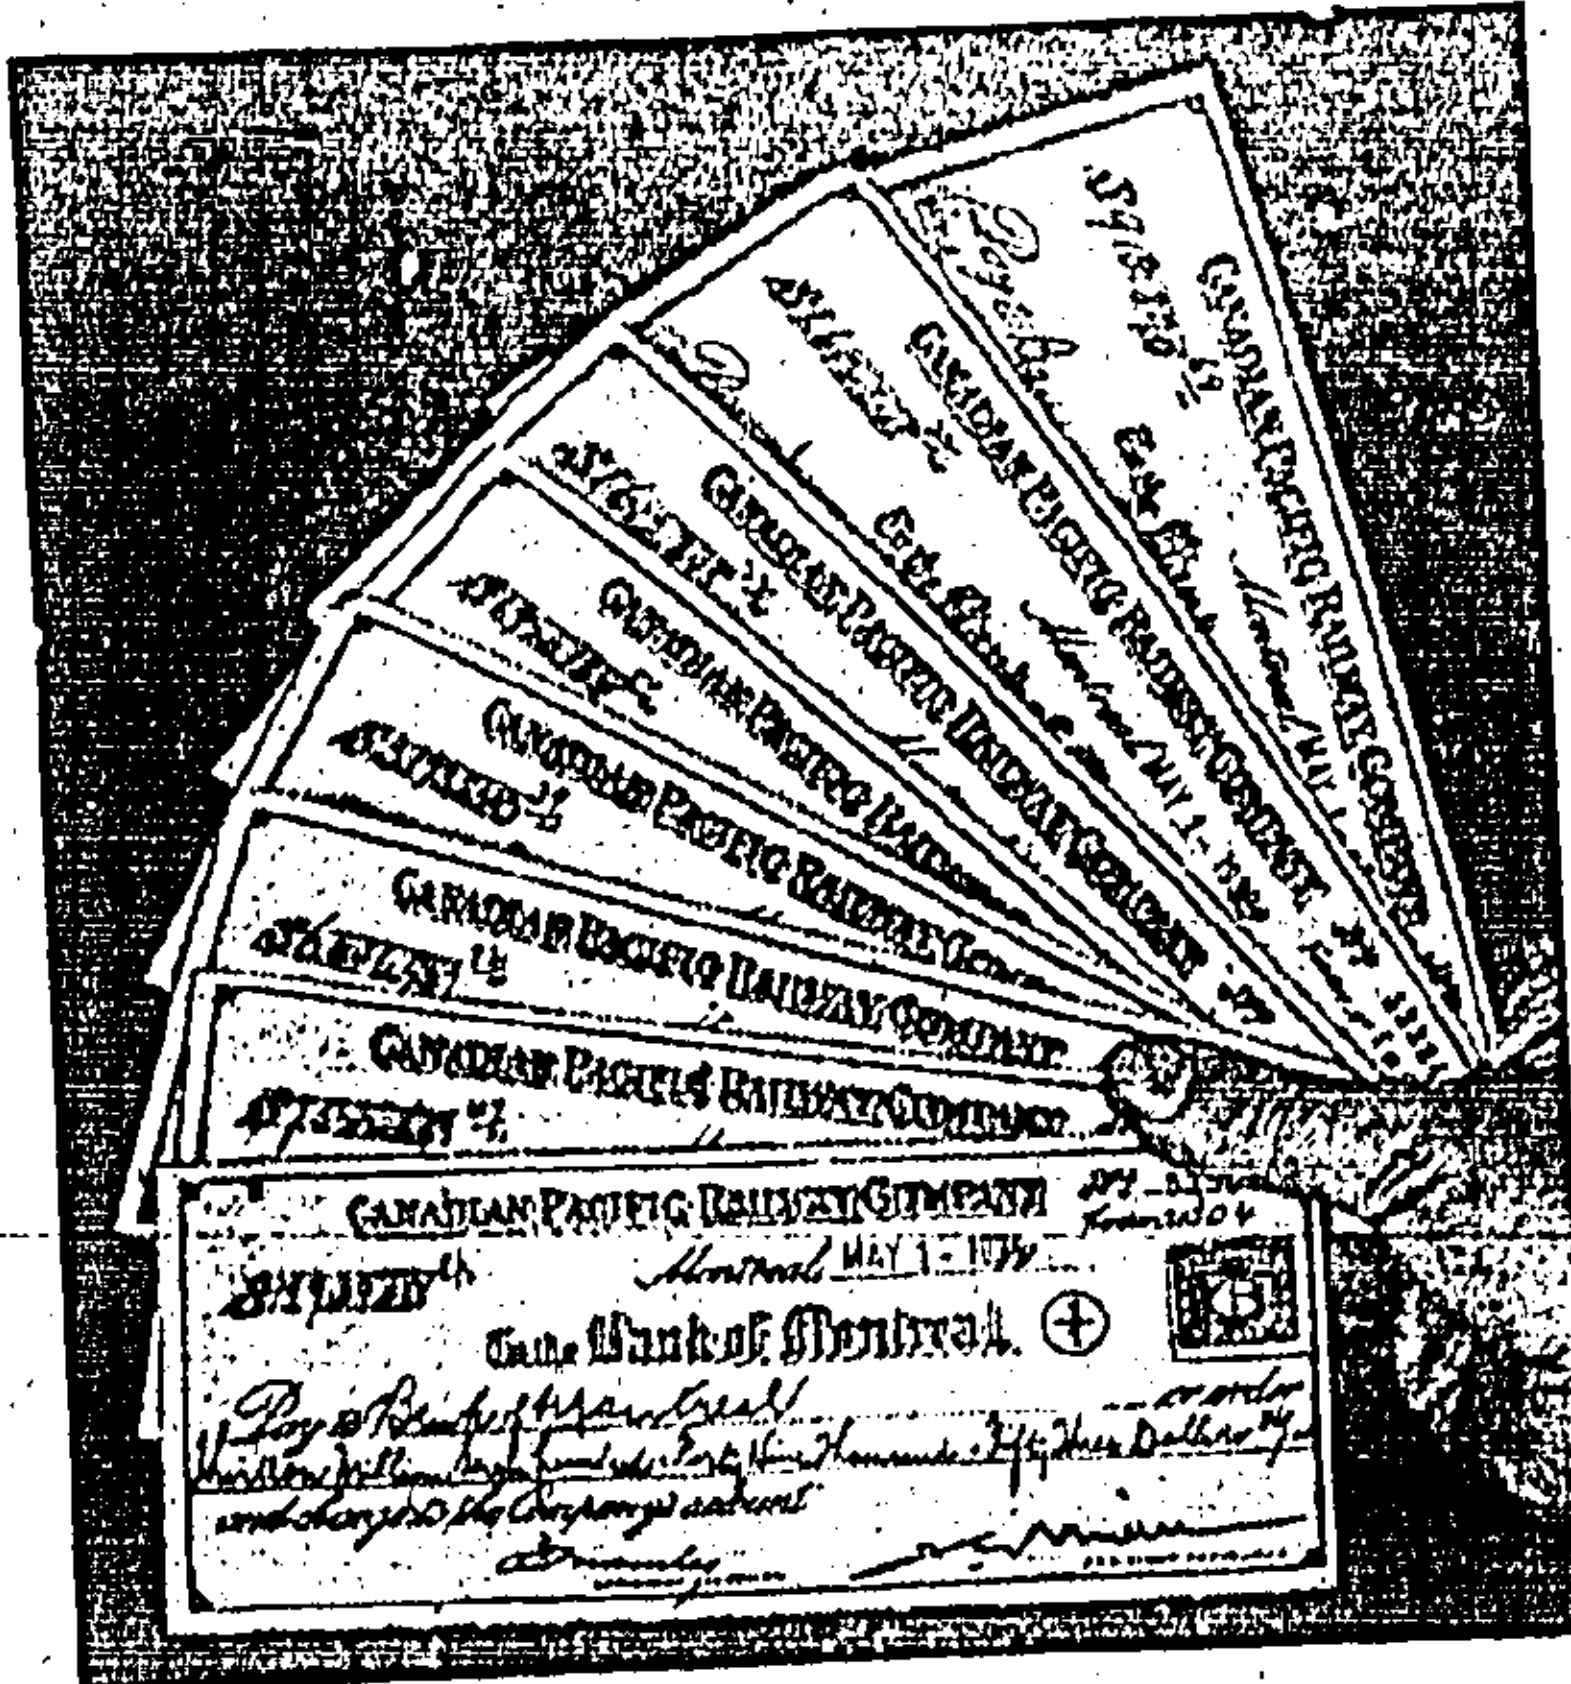

"Give us your support for one term of office" (i.e. five years from last August), he begged. "That is all we need—and then I will retire to my school."

tables with flowers on them—could really be flying by air at more than a mile a minute.

"Dr. Hugo Eckener said: 'It's like a dream,' echoing my thoughts as we sat by an open window watching the moonlight shimmering on the ocean.

"He continued: 'I have already come to one conclusion. The North Atlantic air channel will not be along the steamer lane; there are too many local conditions.'"

HANDFUL OF MILLIONS

Eight cheques totalling in value no less a sum than $36,755,630 changed hands on May 1 when the Canadian Pacific Railway paid off the balance in principal and interest due of the sixty million dollar loan contracted in 1933, and guaranteed by the Dominion Government at that time.

It will be remembered that in June of that year the Canadian Pacific had to raise the sixty million to meet maturing obligations. The money markets of the world were then feeling the full effect of the financial crisis and were closed with the result that it was not possible to borrow so large a sum on advantageous terms. The Canadian banks therefore agreed to combine in making this loan, but as an added measure of security to the banks, the Dominion Government agreed to guarantee re-payment of the loan both as to principal and interest. The loan was to mature in five years, or might be paid off by the Canadian Pacific prior thereto on notice to be given to the banks. It has been paid off in full in less than three years, and the obligation of the Government to guarantee payment came to an end automatically today when the cheques issued today were presented. Furthermore, since all interest and other charges have been paid by the Company, the entire transaction has not cost the Dominion Government one cent. The loan originally carried an interest rate of five per cent, but later this was reduced to four and a half per cent. New loans raised by the Company to pay this off were made at a still lower rate of interest.

Chancellor Puts Poser To Members

PARLIAMENT MAY NEED BLACKBOARDS WEAKNESS IN ARITHMETIC

If the capacity of M.P.s to do mental arithmetic does not improve Parliament will need a blackboard and chalk. The problem before the House of Commons recently was: If a company is formed with a capital of £1,000,000 to make loans to small businesses and the Treasury undertakes to guarantee 25 per cent. of the losses, how much can the Treasury lose?

Mr. Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said the total loss might be £1,000,000.

Then, said M.P.s, obviously the company, the Areas Reconversion Association, Ltd.—was going to lend up to £1,000,000.

Not at all said Mr. Chamberlain. As loans were repaid the money would be loaned again. The capital would revolve, he explained, drawing circles with his forefinger while the brains of M.P.s, started to whirl in harmony.

M.P. TO THE RESCUE

But members could not see it. From all parts of the House they bobbed up with queries. Mr. Chamberlain explained it again, and was told that he had only confused them the more. The loss, they insisted, could be only £250,000.

They introduced the Biblical illustration of the man and the talents in an effort to show the Chancellor to be wrong.

Then up rose Mr. Albery (C. Granvilles).

"Perhaps I can explain," he said modestly. "Suppose the £1,000,000 is loaned and £250,000 is lost. There will remain only £750,000 to be loaned and 25 per cent. is lost. Then it must be clear that more than £250,000 has been lost, although never more than £1,000,000 has been loaned."

"My hon. friend's illustration, for which I am much obliged, shows how the thing is going to work," said Mr. Chamberlain, expressing his thanks.

Even then M.P.s asked: "If the Treasury guaranteeing £250,000 or £1,000,000?"

New Anti-Dazzle Rules For Cars

After October 3 next year all vehicles which are fitted with powerful head lamps will have to be provided with effective means for preventing dazzle.

Beginning last month, head lamps vehicles—except public service vehicles stopping to pick up or set down passengers—must be extinguished unless the stop is enforced—for example, in traffic.

These are among the new motor-car lighting regulations announced by the Minister of Transport, Mr. Hore-Bellish.

The "anti-dazzle" law will come into operation for new vehicles on October 4, the beginning of Winter Time this year, and October 3, 1937, for existing vehicles, and the Ministry says:

"The regulations do not attempt to specify the circumstances in which the required apparatus must be brought into action, as it is recognised that circumstances may arise in which a definite requirement in that respect might lead to danger rather than safety."

It will be obligatory for headlights to be capable of being dipped so that they will not dazzle a person more than 25 ft. away with his eye not less than 3 ft. 6 in. above the ground.

Other new regulations which come into force on October 4 this year are:

(a) Side lamps are limited to a power not exceeding 7 watts, and must be fitted with frosted glass or other material which has the effect of diffusing the light.

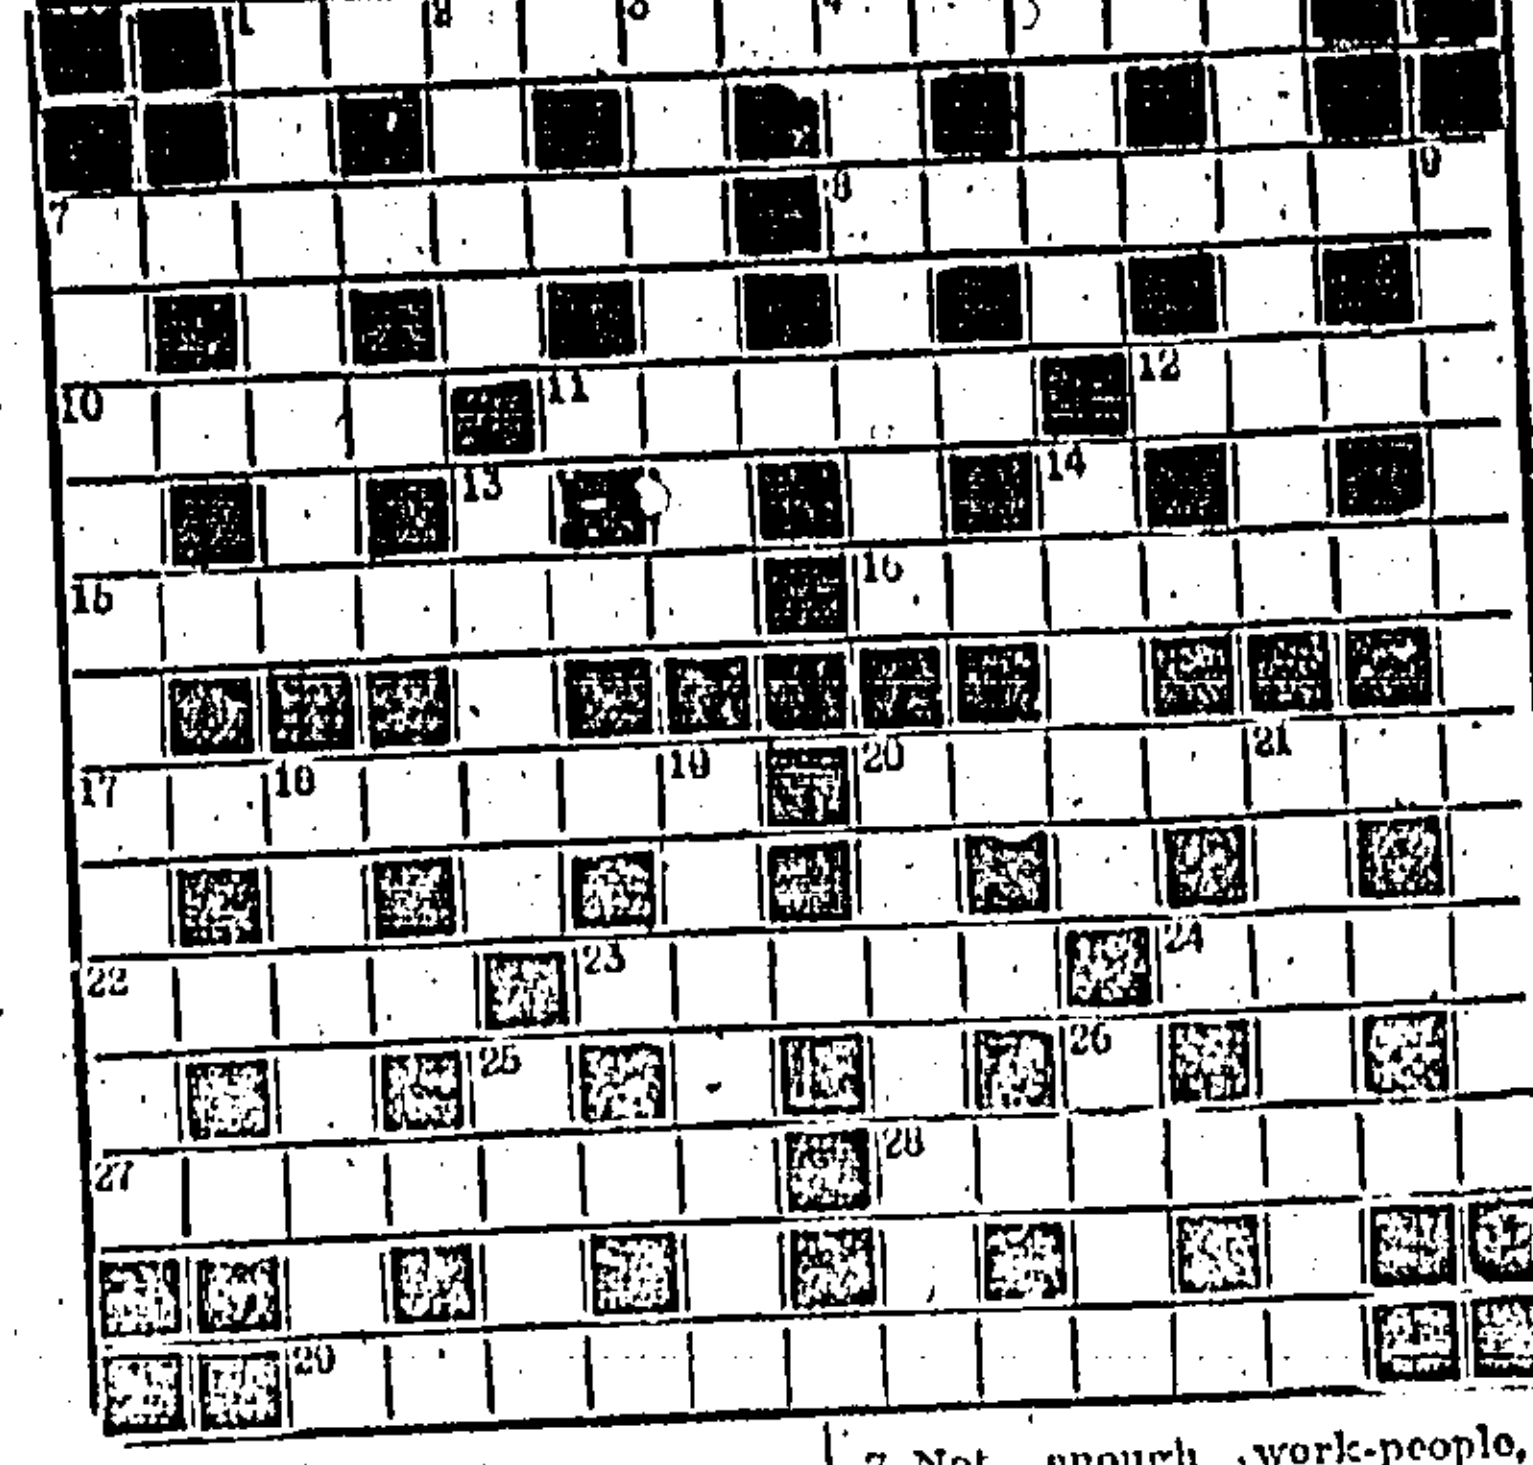

(b) Except in the case of public service vehicles—

(1) The obligatory front lights must be fixed at a height not exceeding 5 ft. from the ground, unless a red reflector and white surface similar to that required for pedal cycles, not fitted with rear light, are also carried.

(c) Bulbs used in electric lamps are required to have their wattage marked on them.

The existing power of chief officers of police to allow vehicles to stand on parking places at night without lights is extended to stands for hackney carriages.

HINDENBURG COMMANDERS GREETED AFTER RECORD TRIP

Dr. Hugo Eckener, left, and Commander Ernest Lehmann, right, shown surrounded by newsmen after they set the giant dirigible Hindenburg down at Lakehurst, N. J., completing the first commercial airship flight between Europe and the United States. The giant aircraft made the crossing in 61 hours 50 minutes, bettering by a day and a half the old record held by the Graf Zeppelin.

Standing by the after-deck rail of this United States liner, watching her unload 5,000 bags of mail into a tender, is a little group of sombre-dressed mild-looking men who might be ordinary tourists on holiday bent.

Nobody spending a few hours with them, as I did at a farewell party, would realise for one moment that they were criminals, and "tough ones" at that.

"CUTTING EXPENSES"

Every Day Is Duelling Day
In Hungary

Budapest, June 1.
EIGHT Hungarians to-day followed the recent example of their Prime Minister, M.
Goemboes, by fighting duels.

For to-morrow, so far, the number of duels announced is five.
In one duel to-day, at Szom-bathely, in West Hungary, a son fought on behalf of his father.
The father, a sixty-five-year-old Supreme Court judge, was challenged by a lawyer after a court scene.

The duel, fought with cavalry sabres, lasted less than a minute.
The son was carried off with a head wound.

smart, dignified-looking Englishman, quiet, an ex-officer. He was in prison for "dope", carrying, although he swore to me that he was victim of a "frame-up", and did not even know what morphine or cocaine looked like.

To-night he will be with his family in a northern seaport town, hoping to start life afresh among people who do not know his past.

The group on deck who have cheered him off the ship are a mixture—some are the "toughest" men in America's gangdom, others are aliens who have committed a technical breach of the law, and so must start life afresh in what is to them a strange country.

AWAKE
2 YEARS,
HE FLIES
TO SLEEP

Calcutta, June 1.
A MILLIONAIRE merchant who has only had twenty minutes' sleep in two years is planning to take an aeroplane flight in search of sleep.

He is Rai Bahadur Ramjidas Bajoria, a millionaire Marhari merchant here, who has done everything to find a cure for his insomnia.

Anyone who could cure him was offered a reward of £2,000.
He subsequently declared that "riches for life await the man who can restore to me the joy of sleep."

In response to his appeal he received over 5,000 cables and letters and suggested "cures" have come to him every week from all parts of the world by air mail and steamer.

ALL-NIGHT FLIGHT

One of these, from an American correspondent, suggested that a prolonged aeroplane flight would solve his problem.

He has agreed to try the suggestion, and next week he will leave the aerodrome here on an all-night flight which he hopes will bring him his long-desired sleep.

Two days after he was captured in San Francisco, William Mahan, confessed kidnapper of George Weyerhaeuser, pleaded guilty at Tacoma, Wash., and was sentenced to 60 years by Federal Judge E. E. Cushman. Little time was lost in removing the kidnapper to McNeil Island Penitentiary and this photo shows him handcuffed to U. S. Marshal A. J. Chitty, left, as they descended a gangplank to a waiting boat at Stellacoom, Wash., which rushed Mahan to McNeil's.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

LESSON SERMON

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Hongkong

SUNDAY'S SERVICE

The subject of the lesson Sermon in all churches of Christ, Scientist, to-morrow, June 7, will be: "God the only cause and creator." The Golden Text will be: "I will lift up mine eye unto the hills, from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord, who made heaven and earth. (Psalm 121: 1, 2.)

Among others, the following citations from the Bible will be used:
"God that made the world and all things therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands; Neither is worshipped with men's hands, as though he needed anything, seeing that he giveth to all life, and breath, and all things: For in him we live,
and move, and have our being: as certain also of your own poets have said:
For we are also his offspring." Acts 17: 24, 25, 28.

The Lesson Sermon will also include the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy:
The Scriptures imply that God is All-in-all.
God is individual, incorporeal.

CINEMA
NOTES

One of the greatest romances of the air "Cecilia Zero," a Cosmopolitan production featuring James Cagney and Pat O'Brien in the stellar roles is coming shortly to the Queen's Theatre. Based on the Broadway stage hit by Lieut. Commander Frank Wend, the play is crammed with thrills, laughter and love. It concerns the war-devil exploits of three flyers who have joined the commercial flying forces, to carry mail and passengers in the face of death. Not that they considered their work particularly hazardous, but these pilots frequently flirted with life and death against the orders of their superiors. For the first time in air pictures, the keewee, or ground man also gets an inning in the romance of the aviation field, and the extreme precautions to guard the safety of the planes by watching the flyer constantly and warning the rival's place in the air is dramatized. Outside of the romance of the subject itself, there are two triangular love affairs, one between Cagney, a pilot, June Travis who has the feminine lead and plays the part of an air hostess, and another pilot, a passenger played by Henry, a passenger played by Henry Henry, Cagney also has an affair with a character played by Martha Tibbets who later becomes the wife of O'Brien. For once Cagney does not get his girl, deliberately sacrificing her to his rival and taking that rival's place in the flight in a snow which means certain death. Others in the cast include Barton MacLane, Isabel Jewell, Craig Reynolds, Richard Purcell, Carlyle Moore, Jr. Addison Richards and Robert Light. Howard Hughes war Ace and director of "Hell's Angels," handled the production.

"Petticoat Fever"

Against a background of Icebound Liberator, Robert Montgomery and Myrna Loy are enacting one of the funniest comedies ever screened in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Petticoat Fever," now at the King's Theatre. Adapted from the stage hit of the same name, the story concerns a winsome prisoner who is rescued by a beautiful young girl and her male companion, whom he rescues from the Arctic night. Reginald Owen heads the featured cast, as the blue-eyed Englishman whose wife is snatched away from under his very nose.
Others cast are Otto Yarnowka, Harvey, Bo Ching and Iris Yarnowka.
The brilliant direction of George Fitzmaurice is to a large extent responsible for the unabating merriment of this exceedingly funny picture.
Produced by Frank Davis has dressed it with lavish production merriment. "Petticoat Fever" is the first picture to bring together Montgomery and Miss Loy since their memorable vehicle, "When Love Meet." Each has gone far in personally popularizing since that time and improved vastly in acting technique.
The funniest sequence in the new picture and, no doubt one of the funniest ever screened in the party given by Montgomery for his two guests on the day of the picture, is the scene in which the party for which only he and Miss Loy have the courageous plan to don evening clothes while an Arctic blizzard rages outside.

"Naughty Marietta"

"Naughty Marietta," heroine of
"The Merry Widow," and Nelson Eddy, noted American baritone who demonstrates that he is destined to be one of the screen's great new leading men, are teamed in a delectable blend of drama, romance and merriment in "Naughty Marietta," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's translation of the Victor Herbert masterpiece, which is showing at the Star Theatre on Sunday for one day only. Retaining the gorgeous music of the operetta, the picture is produced as a thundering drama of New Orleans of the Creole days. The picture is a perfect blend of the French princess who escapes a marriage of state, flees to the new colony of Louisiana where she meets her romance in the British captain, played by Eddy. Clever dramatic artists both, with gorgeous singing voices, they make a perfect team. Elsa Lancaster is intriguing as the wife of the governor, played with whimsical comedy by Frank Morgan. Walter Long and Douglas Dumbrille provide menace and comedy in the hands of Edward Brophy and Harold Huber. The picture is genuinely a gem. Joseph Cawthorne, Cecilia Parker, Greta Meyer, Walter Kingsford and others have roles that they fill more than satisfactorily.

"Anything Goes"

Paramount's presentation of "Anything Goes," the Broadway musical comedy success is now showing at the Queen's Theatre. It is a sparkling musical comedy, and contains all the famous songs his associated with the play. The audience proves enthusiastic over this screen offering.
Bing Crosby, the singing star, is the feature attraction, and carries off honours with his breezy style of acting and singing. The high point of the picture, vocally, is a set of parodies on "You're the Top" which he and Ethel Merman sing, and which evoke surprise and delight. Others in the cast of players are Charlie Ruggles, Ida Lupino and Grace Bailey. In addition to the song his associated with its name, the picture has new songs by Cole Porter and others.
The direction is by Lewis Milestone, and the dance routines were elaborated by LeRoy Prinz.

"Broadway Hostess"

"Broadway Hostess," the first National comedy drama with music, now at the Star Theatre, is not only one of the most delightful and entertaining pictures of the season, but it introduces as a film star the girl who made the song "The Lady in Red" in "In Caliente," famous. The picture has just about everything in it, including hilarious comedy, dramatic thrills, catchy songs, unique mammoth spectacles with hundreds of beautiful girls, and a cast of unusual talent, both as actors and singers. Best of all, it has Wini Shaw.
Miss Shaw plays the part of a small town girl with a voice, who goes to Broadway, but fails to make good until Lyle Talbot, in the role of a beatnik gambler, takes her up and makes her the toast of the town.
Allen Jenkins, as the comedy actor and bodyguard of the gambler, fares best in his heart affairs, for he successfully woos a very much married and divorced lady. With Spring Byington, his bride, he furnishes a large share of the comedy scenes.
Talbot gives an excellent account of himself as the somewhat rough but always lucky gambler, as also does

NEW YORK STOCK
EXCHANGEMARKET DOWNWARD
YESTERDAY

New York, June 5.
Swan, Culbertson & Fritz Dow
Jones summary of yesterday's market:—The market to-day was slightly lower and to-day's trading was one of the duller for the past ten months.
The French situation has continued to be the centre of attention as heavy gold exodus from Paris has led to the belief that measures to stem the loss of gold tantamount to the abandonment of the Gold Standard by France are inevitable. Wall Street is also disturbed regarding the prolongation of Congress and is nervous over tax legislation. Business news, however, continues good, although Gilded issues broke three points on poor earnings reports. Steel shares met with late support. Motor stocks were fairly steady. Chemicals were mixed and movements were narrow.
The market for the Curb Exchange were lower, except senior utility securities, which were strong.

S. C. & F. New York office cables:
Stocks: The market to-day reflected the lack of public interest, with traders awaiting news. The Bell System has added 75,200 stations during May, against a gain of 47,000 stations in May last year. The International Telephone & Telegraph Company has earned 25 cents per share for the March quarter against 10 cents during the corresponding quarter of last year. Woolworth's sales in May were 7.4 per cent. above those of May last year. Bank Clearings are up 17.3 per cent.
Cotton: Rains in the East are still inadequate. The undertone is steady, with offerings on the light side. For-wardings to mills during the past week amounted to 211,000 bales as against 219,000 bales the previous week.
Wheat: A forecast of the weather indicates showers in the North-West, but drought conditions have not been relieved and continue to be the major factor.

THE NAVAL VOLUNTEERSGOVERNOR INSPECTS
CORNFLOWER

Paying his first visit to H. M. S.
Cornflower, headquarters of the Hongkong Royal Naval Volunteer Force yesterday, His Excellency the Governor paid special attention to the fifty or so ratings and congratulated them on their smart turn out.
His Excellency was accompanied by Commodore C. G. Sedgwick, and all hands had been at work preparing for his arrival by making the ship as smart as possible. Lt. Cmdr. E.
Petrie, D.S.O., O.C. the H.K.R.N.V.F., received His Excellency, who made an inspection of the entire ship. A dozen officers and cadets were lined up on deck for inspection.
Lt. Cmdr. W. Barry, Officer Instructor, was present.

Addressing the ratings His Excellency said, through an interpreter:
I want to tell you how very glad I am to be able to come and inspect you this evening. I also want you to know that there is one thing in which English and Chinese are very much alike; they are both fond of the sea.
They both have a great tradition of seamanship behind them. I come from Singapore, and the history of Malaya has been for centuries and centuries a history of Chinese maritime enterprise. For hundreds of years Chinese junks, in spite of typhoons, samatras and monsoons, have made regular voyages between China and Malaya.

It is very pleasant for me to come here as Governor and find that you Chinese are devoting your ancestral seamanship to the defence of this Island. There is no need for me to tell you that you have a most important function to perform in the defence scheme of Hongkong, but as your Governor and your Commander-in-Chief I want to tell you that we people in Hongkong are very proud of the H.K.R.N.V.F.

I am quite sure that you will never let your level of efficiency weaken below its present standard but, if it is possible you will better it. On that I can rely. I wish you every possible success and happiness.
After the inspection His Excellency and the Commodore, officers and cadets took cocktails with the Commanding Officer, after which the dis-
A dinner and impromptu dinner on board concluded a memorable day in the history of the Force.

Miss Tobin as the supercilious society girl, Regan is excellent as the Tin Pan Alley pianist, who loves and loses the beautiful Miss Shaw. He also has an excellent lyric tenor voice. Others in the cast who do excellent work include Marie Wilson, Joseph King, Donald Ross, Frank
Dawson and Harry Seymour. Frank McDonald, who handled the dramatic part of the production, did an excellent job of directing.

SUN YAT-SEN MEMORIAL

INAUGURATION OF NEW SCHOOL

Macao, June 5.
Dr. Sun Fo, Chinese Minister of Communications, and his party including General Maurice Cohen, paid a short visit to Macao last week-end. The visit had for its object the formal inauguration of the recently constructed Sun Yat Sen Memorial School at Choy Hung, the birthplace of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, some 25 miles north of Macao.

The beautiful edifice which has been erected to commemorate the early years of the late Founder of the Chinese Republic, has accommodation for 500 students and the school expects to do great work particularly in the department of agriculture besides the usual educational curriculum.

Situated in the immensely rich agricultural district of Chung Shan, the building is imposing with its magnificent archway, the splendid vermillion walls and artistic green glazed tiled roofs. It has cost $300,000 funds for its construction having been obtained mainly through the solicitude of Dr. Sun Fo.

The inauguration took place on Sunday. Included in Dr. Sun Fo's party were Dr. Sze To, Canton Municipal Health Officer, Lin Yeh-mun, Secretary, Foo Ping-shan and Kin Kai-hon.

Dr. Sun Fo was the guest of H.E. the Acting Governor of Macao, Dr. J. Pereira Barbosa, to lunch on Sunday, May 31.—Our Own Correspondent.

WAR NOT DECLARED ON JAPAN

Japan's encroachment turns only, the more aggravated.

"Facts disclose that no expense of territory given—i.e., the Four North-Eastern Provinces and the East Hopei territory—and no signing of agreements of submission—i.e., the Shantung Peace Treaty, the Ho-Chang-Chow Agreement, etc.—could serve to appease the greed of the aggressor. With vaulting ambition, Japan embarks upon the second step of encroachment by mobilising innumerable troops into Tientsin and Peking and carrying on large-scale smuggling in North China.

"Alas! Japan's aggression is now at its height and China is placed in the most precarious predicament. To survive, therefore, we must rise and offer armed resistance, for there is left no other choice. We the undersigned, being army officers and realising that our sole duty lies in defending our country, earnestly crave that we be given orders to proceed North, under a new standard, and face the enemy. Through fire and water we will proceed and lay down our lives at the altar of national salvation. We are of one heart and mind in this proclamation of our inexorable attitude."

Signed: Generals Chen Chai-tong, Li Chung-jen, Pai Chung-hsi, etc.—Central Press.

FACTORY LAW AMENDMENT

POWER TO GRANT MODIFICATIONS

The Gazette contains the draft of an Ordinance to amend the Factories and Workshops Ordinance, 1932.

Owing to the very great variety in the nature of the numerous different businesses carried on in the Colony and in the types of buildings used for industrial undertakings it is virtually impossible for the Governor-in-Council to make regulations prescribing all the minor precautions which may be appropriate in certain factories and workshops.

The proposed amendment enables the Protector in special cases to make modifications in or additions to the regulations made by the Governor-in-Council whenever the circumstances of the case render such variations reasonable or desirable.

TENDERS ACCEPTED

LATEST GOVERNMENT LIST

The Government has accepted the following tenders:

Purchase of old No. 9 Police Launch.—Mr. Chan Ping.
Shing Mun Valley Scheme, 2nd 24" dia. Shing Mun Trunk Main.—Messrs. Wao Hing & Co.
Hot water installation to European staff quarters, new Gaoi.—Messrs. C. E. Warren & Co., Ltd.
Clothing, Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps.—Messrs. Mohamed Din Bros.
Good at Stanley, concrete and barbed wire fence to Gaoi reserve.—Messrs. Sang Tai & Co.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

LET EVERYTHING BE A JOYANCE TO US; IT WILL, IF WE WILL.—London.

The number of emigrants leaving the Colony for the Straits Settlements during the month of May was 8,595.

It is notified that the fee charged to nationals of China for an entry visa will, until further notice, be $10.50.

The Hongkong Telegraph has received from Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Stark a sum of $5, for the Hongkong Benevolent Society, in memory of the late Mrs. Jensen.

His Excellency the Governor has appointed Private Christopher D'Almada E. Castro to be Second Lieutenant in the Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps.

The King's Exequatur empowering Mr. Howard Donovan to act as Consul General of the United States of America at Hongkong has received His Majesty's signature.

It is notified that during the absence on leave of Mr. J. P. Bagrum, Honorary Consul-General for Siam in Hongkong, Mr. S. Hampden Ross will be in charge of the Siam Consulate-General.

It is hereby notified that as from June 8, a charge of $1 will be made for destroying dogs, cats and other pets and disposing of remains, bedding, etc., at Kennedy Town Slaughter House.

It is announced in the London Times of May 1 that Professor W. L. Gerrard, D.Sc., M.B., M.Ch., D.P.H., of the Hongkong University, has been elected a Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians, London. So far as is known Professor Gerrard is the first recipient of this honour in Hongkong.

LOCAL PLEASURE GROUNDS

NEW BATHING BEACH REGULATIONS

The Gazette contains the draft of an Ordinance to regulate certain pleasure grounds, bathing places and places of public resort.

This Ordinance substitutes new provisions for the Public Places Regulation Ordinance, No. 2 of 1870, and the Chinese Recreation Ground Ordinance, No. 17 of 1923, which it repeals, and in addition confers on the Governor-in-Council a power to make regulations for bathing places, which the constantly increasing demand for bathing facilities in this Colony has made it necessary to control.

The places to which this Ordinance applies are set out in the First Schedule thereto.

In the Second Schedule to the Ordinance are re-enacted the existing regulations, collected and revised, made under Ordinance No. 2 of 1870, together with such additions as are now desirable.

TEA PARTY TALK COST AIR MARSHAL AND WIFE £100

"NEVER TELL SECRETS TO YOUR WIVES"

AIR Commodore W. F. MacNeece Foster was awarded £100 damages in the King's Bench Division recently in his slander action against Air Marshal Sir Cyril Newall, a member of the Air Council, and Lady Newall, of Walton Leigh, Addlestone, Surrey, in respect of statements made by Lady Newall at a tea party.

His case was that Lady Newall made remarks about him to her friends suggesting that he had been guilty of undisciplined conduct in his dealings with the Air Council.

The defence was a denial that the words were capable of any defamatory meaning, or were spoken maliciously. The fullest regret had been expressed for their publication, and it was denied that Air Commodore Foster's reputation had been damaged.

Mr. Nicholas Macaskie, K.C., for Air Commodore Foster, said it was a unique case in that it was probably the last which would ever be tried where a plaintiff sued a husband in respect of a wrong committed by his wife.

Only ten days after the action was brought the law was changed, so that now, after hundreds of years, a husband "could go abroad feeling immune from the consequences of his wife's wrongs."

Air Commodore Foster was 46. He served throughout the war, was awarded the D.S.O. and the D.F.C. In 1920 he was promoted to the command of the Air Defence Group Auxiliary and Special Reserve Squad.

DISTINGUISHED

Sir Cyril Newall was of higher rank and an officer of great distinction. One would think that Lady Newall, the wife of a man occupying a high position, would know that discretion should be exercised by her if she learned of any confidential matters which were passing between her husband, as a member of the Air Council, and some other member of the Air Force.

On May 29, 1933, Air Commodore Foster was informed by the Air Council that he was not to be promoted to Air Vice-Marshal, and he subsequently protested against this decision.

On January 15, 1934, he received a letter from the Air Council containing the following sentence:

We cannot leave this subject without expressing regret that an officer of his (Air Commodore Foster's) seniority should have deemed it proper to make a copy and use documents which, trivial as they were, were on the face of them not official in character, and received by him under cover of a letter from the Air Ministry marked "private," and concluding with a request that the documents might be returned.

WROTE COUNCIL

If Air Commodore Foster's appeal for promotion—which could be made to the King if overruled by the Air Council—were to receive the fullest consideration it was necessary to have such a slur removed, and on April 3, 1934, he wrote to the Council:

"I therefore formally request that the Council may be pleased to hold, in camera, an inquiry into the serious matters which have been divulged. I will facilitate this inquiry in every way." He enclosed a cheque of £500 which he said was to be forfeit if it were found that any statement he had made were false, irrelevant, or malicious.

That request was refused, and subsequently in the course of the controversy Air Commodore Foster wrote to the effect that if the Air Council would not withdraw the allegation in the letter of January 15 he would be forced to bring an action to clear himself before he could go on with his appeal.

On May 25 Lady Newall went to the house of a Mr. and Mrs. Bosanquet where there were also a Mr. Harris and his daughter, who, though strangers to Lady Newall, knew Air Commodore Foster and his wife.

CAUSE OF TROUBLE

In the course of conversation Lady Newall said to Miss Harris:

I do think Mrs. Foster is a charming person, don't you? Perfectly delightful. I do hope she is not agreeing with this ridiculous way her husband is behaving.

Of course, he is ruining his chances. It is so stupid, because, with an increase in the Air Force, there would be a great chance for him to get a very good position, and that is now quite impossible.

To Mrs. Bosanquet Lady Newall said, when asked whether she knew Air Commodore Foster: "Yes, but not as well as we used to. Mr. Foster has been behaving like an ass."

She also said: "Mr. Foster has been making such an ass of himself in kicking up a fuss about not being promoted."

To Mr. Bosanquet and Mr. Harris Lady Newall said:

I so much like Mrs. Foster and am so sorry for her because her husband is making such a fool of himself. He has been disappointed at not securing promotion and is behaving stupidly.

He is actually threatening to bring an action against the Air Council. Because of the expansion of the Air Force, there is a great need for men, and Air Commodore Foster might have got the promotion he wants, but the course he is now taking will make it impossible to re-employ him.

It was quite untrue, said Mr. Macaskie, that Air Commodore Foster had threatened to bring an action against the Air Council.

He submitted that Lady Newall's words were most damaging to Air Commodore Foster's reputation. One of the persons who heard the words reported the matter to Air Commodore Foster, who wrote to the Air Council.

"Would one not have thought," asked Mr. Macaskie, "that when Sir Cyril realised that his wife had been indiscreet, his first impulse and desire would have been to communicate with his brother officer?"

Air Commodore Foster waited until June 22, and then wrote to Sir Cyril Newall.

OIL ON WATERS

It was not until July 3 that Sir Cyril Newall wrote:

... My wife and I appreciate that the conversation which your friends apparently reported to you would naturally hurt your feelings, but it must not be taken that I am admitting, in saying that, the accuracy of what was said.

It is unfortunate that the subject should have ever been referred to on this occasion, but my wife is not alone to blame for its being referred to.

Be that as it may, we would like you to know how very sorry we both are that anything my wife said has caused you and your wife distress, and to offer you our sincere regret and assurance that we will, in the future, discourage any discussion of you and your affairs.

Sir Patrick Hastings, K.C. (cross-examining for the defence): Do you want Sir Cyril to pay you damages for what Lady Newall said at a tea-party?—The reputation of an officer is the most precious thing he has got.

Sir Patrick: At this date (January 1934) you were having correspondence with the Secretary for Air and accusing him of having acted wrongfully in law?—Yes. Lord Londonderry withdrew the action but I do not think he would have done so if I had not consulted my solicitors and pointed out to Lord Londonderry that he was wrong.

RESPONSIBILITY

Of course, a wife ought not to tell anything that her husband tells her?—You omit to recognise that he is directly responsible under regulations and if he were a junior officer he would be held responsible and punished.

Addressing the jury Sir Patrick Hastings said the sort of action arising out of little-tattle at a tea-party ought never to be brought.

Then, turning to the ten male members of the jury, Sir Patrick said: "If you have wives never tell them anything that you don't want to have repeated, because you know: men must work and women must go out to tea. And, when they go out to tea, it seems from the experience of Mr. Macaskie and myself their one idea is to benefit lawyers. Give them a chance and they will say something which will make their husbands sweat for years."

But the law had since said it was beyond a joke that a husband should be held liable for his wife's talk, and it had been altered.

Mr. Justice MacKinnon, summing-up, said they were not to let that Air Commodore Foster might, by recovering damages, punish Sir Cyril Newall for any breach—if there was a breach—of King's Regulations, or still less to ventilate any grievance he had against the Air Council. Their only concern was whether Lady Newall's words were defamatory.

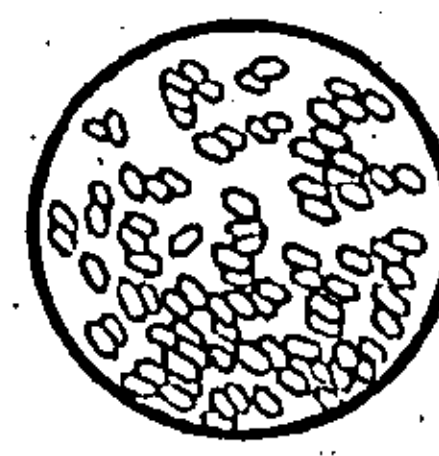

The jury found that two of the statements were defamatory and two were not defamatory, and £50 was awarded on each of the slanders. Sir Cyril and Lady Newall had paid £100 into court, and Air Commodore Foster was given judgment for costs up to the date of that payment.

Flying Laboratory Six Miles High

SCIENTISTS SEEK CLUES TO COSMIC RAYS

A LABORATORY in the stratosphere, higher than Mount Everest, is wanted by Professor P. M. Blackett, Britain's leading authority on cosmic rays.

He told the Royal Society last month that the object was to intercept, on their way from space, the mysterious cosmic rays which constantly bombard the earth.

He is hoping that the Air Ministry, which is carrying out regular high altitude flights, will provide the "laboratory" in the cockpit of a plane.

Such an experiment, the first high altitude cosmic ray investigation in this country, has already been carried out.

A FILM TAKEN

Delicate instruments which counted the invasion of cosmic rays were taken up by the R.A.F. "high flyers" to a height of more than six miles. A film record, operated by the pilot, was kept and was shown.

In their relentless pursuit of clues to the mysterious origin, character and behaviour of these invisible "bullets" from space, Professor Blackett's research workers set up a laboratory on a disused platform of the underground railway at Holborn. There, they discovered how deep and how frequently the rays penetrated.

900,000,000 VOLTS

An 11-ton electro-magnet to "disrupt" the rays has also been set up in a hangar in Filtonbury. With its help they have studied cosmic rays which have an energy of 900,000,000 volts. They suspected rays with much higher voltages, but the Professor calculated that a magnet to control them would cost anything up to £100,000.

'Blind' Flying Test For R.A.F. Badge

NEW SYSTEM OF TRAINING

A new system of training at R.A.F. schools includes the following test for the award of the flying badge (wings):—

The pupil must be able to fly a Service type of aircraft reliably and accurately by day in clear air and solely by the aid of instrument ("blind" flying), and land consistently well at low speeds.

He must be able to execute correctly those normal and acrobatic manoeuvres ("stunts") appropriate to the type of aircraft on which he is trained; be able to recover from abnormal position solely by the aid of instruments; have carried out on a Service type of aircraft an efficient climb to 15,000ft. and remained there for 30 minutes.

Officers and airmen undergoing the full course of training at a flying training school must be able to fly consistently good compass courses in clear air or in cloud, and be able to climb with war load at or near maximum rate, up to 15,000ft., or Service "climbing" if less.

WHAT'S IDEAL BATHING DRESS?

400 BATH HEADS PUZZLED

Shorts "In and Out"

WHAT is the ideal bathing costume?

Four hundred men and women from all parts of Great Britain whose work brings them into daily contact with swimmers debated this topic at Edinburgh at the annual conference of the National Association of Bath Superintendents.

But not one could describe the costumes which combining decency with freedom of movement, would please everyone.

Mr. E. H. Whittle, manager-engineer of the Holborn Borough Baths Department, was vague when he introduced the subject.

"No costume should be worn in a swimming bath," he declared, "which does not serve the purpose the overwhelming majority of the British public expect it to, and that majority representing millions of people set a national standard of decency which should be maintained."

Mr. Baker, of Hastings, set another puzzle when he asked: "Why is it that the growing practice of wearing shorts in the water is decent in the sea and in open-air baths but indecent indoors?"

But Mr. Whittle declined to be drawn. "If the conference rose as one man and asked me to define a decent costume for indoor and outdoor use," he said, "I should refuse."

Mr. Hollingsworth, of Blackpool, described as "bravado" the practice of a number of bathers of rolling their costumes down to their waists when leaving the baths.

"If all bathers were compelled to wear their costumes, pulled down to their waists until they entered the water and immediately after leaving it, we should find 90 per cent. both resenting it and refusing to be dictated to," he said.

"Unfortunately, we have no guidance, even from the manufacturers, in the matter of costumes, but I think, generally speaking, that those turned out to-day are adequate."

And that was that... Which reminded everybody—What is the ideal bathing costume?

FAGGED OUT THROUGH HEAT

NOTHING is more enervating than humidity, excessive heat and sun glare, which seriously saps the human vitality. Such a strain on the nervous system weakens the powers of resistance; resulting in headaches, conditions of lassitude, nervousness, debility, etc. During hot trying periods 'ASPRO' can prove invaluable, particularly due to the fact that after ingestion in the system it promotes skin action and poison elimination through the pores—the natural function of the body. Furthermore, 'ASPRO' quiets and soothes the nerves and is the ideal medicine for minor complaints during sweltering hot weather conditions and heat waves.

PLANNED TOWN DEVELOPMENT

Scotland, we notice, is tackling a problem which has had its counterpart in Hongkong—uncontrolled building development. We have seen, here in this Colony, how haphazard has been much of the building construction in the past, with results which are anything but pleasing to the eye. What is more, there can be no questioning the point that a great many road accidents are due to narrow and ill-planned thoroughfares. Determined to deal with the question along comprehensive lines, the Department of Health in Scotland has issued details of a big new scheme aiming at urban and rural planning. The dangers of uncontrolled development are obvious. They are to be seen in the disordered condition of towns, in narrow streets, in the dearth of open spaces for recreational purposes, and in the destruction of amenities, which cause economic loss, ill-health, discomfort and inconvenience to the people. Scotland has reached the conclusion that the time is ripe for local authorities to tackle the problem on large-scale lines. Consequently, it has been laid down that housing development, improved road communications and more open spaces are to be regarded as component parts of one single whole. In order that the best results may be attained, local authorities in some centres are engaging recognised planning experts, and in cases where the cost of such service becomes too heavy for one authority to bear, joint appointments will be made. Expert advice, it is recognised, not only makes for expedition in the preparation of outline plans, but also tends to save considerable expense in the long run. As indicative of the thoroughgoing manner in which the problem is being approached, it may be stated that there is to be a series of regional conferences at which the whole problem and the circumstances of particular areas will be brought under review. It is to be conceded that there are aspects of this national scheme which would not be applicable to a small and relatively self-contained centre such as Hongkong, but even locally the value of intelligent town-planning is too apparent to require emphasis. Without proper planning, blunders of the past are apt not only to be repeated, but

Why Not Mr. Churchill?

In a recent article, Percy Cater, Daily Mail Parliamentary Correspondent, asked the question, "Why Not Mr. Baldwin?" and contended that he was the best leader of the country at the present time.

Now F. G. Prince-White, Daily Mail Special Correspondent, retorts with "Why Not Mr. Churchill?"

There are many who, dwelling on the perils of the present situation in Europe, have thoughts of Mr. Winston Churchill as the man most likely to fill that role with conviction.

They are saying: "Why not Mr. Churchill?"

They point to the fact that for thirty years now he has been engaged in the business of governing, and that in his youth, before he began to bear the burdens of office, he bore arms.

"Did he not ride in the famous charge of the Lancers at Omdurman, and pass through the spears of the Dervish horde as blithely as his habit is to brave the barbs of debate?"

His adventures with the Spanish forces in Cuba, more than forty years ago, are known; the story of his daring exploits in the South African War is still told by old campaigners.

The Great War revealed him as being, more than ever before, a man capable of translating swift ideas into action as swift. The real tragedy of Gallipoli was that others proved incapable of equal speed.

To-day, Heaven knows, there is need for quick thinking by those who have the future of the Empire in their hold, for rapid thinkers are at work in other countries.

By

F. G.

PRINCE-WHITE

Before the battle of guns there is always the battle of wits. Where, in all Europe, is there a brain more clear, a vision more direct, than Mr. Churchill's?

For all the world's sake, let us have clarity at last, and decision, and the determination to do instantly and with thoroughness the right thing at the right moment.

The safe and successful elucidation of the dangerous problems that have accrued from an unimaginative and reckless foreign policy will demand qualities of greatness in the man who is made chiefly responsible for the task.

Does Mr. Churchill possess such qualities? Wherever you go to-day you will find people ready to give an affirmative answer.

It will be admitted that in the course of his extraordinarily lively career, Mr. Churchill has made mistakes—but they have been errors inseparable from the exercise of great gifts. And even Mr. Churchill's bitterest opponents cannot but own that he is uncommonly gifted.

To younger students of politics it is a most puzzling mystery that Mr. Churchill was not Prime Minister long ago. They look at his record and discover that he has occupied almost every other Government position.

In 1906, when he was only 32, he was given the post of Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies. Two years later he was President of the Board of Trade, and two years after that found him Home Secretary. From 1911 until 1915 he was First Lord of the Admiralty, from which office he passed to that of Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

In 1917 he followed Mr. Lloyd George in that supremely important Department, the Ministry of Munitions. Next he figured on the Governmental stage as Secretary for War and for Air, and after that as Secretary of State for the Colonies.

For five years—from 1924 to 1929—he was Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Here is no mediocre experience, but such as might well stand a Prime Minister in good stead.

It has been Mr. Churchill's incomparable eloquence in the House of Commons that has crystallised most perfectly the nation's inmost thoughts and feelings in this prolonged season of international fear and distrust.

One could have believed, listening the other day to the climax of his speech on the Budget, that his voice belonged to one of the great masters of oratory and statecraft whose statues now stand silently amid Westminster Abbey's shadows.

"Either there will be a melting of hearts and a joining of hands between great nations, and they will set out on realising the glorious era of prosperity and freedom now within the grasp of millions of toiling people, or there will be an explosion and catastrophe the course of which no imagination can measure, and which no human eye can see."

"I believe that a strongly armed Britain, resolutely and valiantly led, seeking nothing but peace, but ready to run risks for peace, may conceivably turn the dread scales between the blessing and the cursing of mankind."

That is noble language—from the mouth of a born Prime Minister.

NOTES OF THE DAY

RECORDING DIALECTS

The British Drama League undertook some three years ago a survey of the principal dialects which are still spoken throughout Great Britain. Twenty-four variants were selected, and examples of each have been recorded by means of the gramophone. There are, in fact, many more than twenty-four variants in Great Britain; indeed, in Yorkshire alone there are said to be at least a hundred distinct variations. The records are to be placed in the British Museum, where they will be available to interested persons in future years when there will perhaps be a uniform standard of language throughout the country.

The introduction of State education and the increasing influence of the British Broadcasting Corporation threaten to abolish the speaking of dialect. This may be claimed as a valuable advance in the interests of education and culture, but on the other hand it is regarded as unfortunate by many who are interested in local types. The task, which has been undertaken entirely by voluntary workers, has involved an enormous amount of work. The choice of speakers presented considerable difficulty. Competent and accurate dialect reciters were in some cases hard to find. Many of those chosen for the excellence of their dialect speech in ordinary conversation became self-conscious before the microphone and reverted to standard English. For the most part the items recorded were verses and local stories from the works of Britain's famous writers.

to be intensified. Many years ago, much was heard locally of schemes prepared by a Town Planning Committee. Whether that body is still in existence, or whether there have been any marked departures from its original ideas, we do not profess to know. But it only requires a casual glance at some districts both on the mainland and the island to show that there is little outward evidence of any real planned development. One of the difficulties, admittedly, is to undo the errors of the past, but we should like to think that the problem is being kept constantly in mind in the new residential and industrial areas which are springing up in various parts of the Colony.

BULLS AND INNERS

From the Office Butts

During the week, a Peak amateur gardener was sent a parcel of cement described as fertilizer. This should produce rock melons.

Hongkong death duties on estates of $20,000,000 are in future to be 20 per cent. On behalf of the Colony's toiling masses, we register a strong protest against the increase.

Appropriately enough, "Anchor" butter which is so popular in Hongkong, comes from "Down Under".

There's some talk about stock-ing Shing Mun with fish. Perhaps when they've grown big enough, we shall have our own Shing Mun Monster.

The difference between a Man-lu four-cent gold mining share and a Hongkong postage stamp, is that the stamp does get somewhere.

The problems confronting the tram and bus companies, appear to be very much on the same lines.

Visiting tourists are to be provided with caddie tickets. Hope they won't have to punch 'em.

With some of these bathing costumes, it's hard to tell where the garment begins and wearer ends.

Judging by the expletively explosive atmosphere at Fanling, there appears to be a good prospect for an "Air Conditioning" salesman in that locality.

It is said that bachelors in the Far East are too full of self-assurance. Self-contained fatal!

From the many enquiries received, the Telegraph Photographic Competition has a wider appeal than ever. Lens enchantment, in fact!

This "Major Baseball" must be a cousin to Colonel Borey.

To win to-day's big sweep would root us down to the ground.

Chinese are predicting a big typhoon this year. Even if it doesn't come off, there'll be a bit of a blow for the prophets.

A prominent member of Parliament is said to have changed his policy seven times in one year. He must be a life insurance agent.

"Gold Flows to U.S.," says newspaper-heading. Yes, but not to U.S.

It not only costs you more to live these days, but also more to die, judging by Hongkong's increased estate duties.

COURT DRESS

So you had your first set of tennis this season in the week-end — and everything is wrong! Your service — more double faults than you like to admit. The back line seemed to be made of elastic and the top of the net a magnet for your return balls.

More than that, your dress looked as if it had never seen an iron, and that extra long side wave in your hair, that looked so smart under your new hat, would fall forward whenever you raised your arm.

I know that "beginning of the season" feeling far too well, but a little practice will put your play back to good form; and an evening's overhaul should put your court dress in order.

To look right and feel right gives a woman confidence all through her life. And at no time is confidence more essential than when playing tennis.

Your mind must be quite free to concentrate on the game, or poor play will result. No stopping between shots to adjust a slipping shoulder strap; to pull down a skirt which you feel sure has ridden above your slip; to put right a sock which has worked under your heel, or to pin your hair back more comfortably.

by Mrs.
Pittman

Ready for play—fresh and cool in their business-like outfits.

THESE things must be right at the beginning, if you want to win your set.

"Shall I wear shorts or a frock?" I hear you ask. But there's more in it than this.

Tennis dress must be simple, easy to wear, and have a tailored, business-like air. No bits and pieces, please, to get in the way and put you off your stroke.

Fills are pretty in their proper place, but this place is not the tennis court. Apart from the fact that tennis frocks spend a lot of time in the wash tub, and should therefore be easy to launder.

I am a strong advocate of "no plays" for tennis. True, they look very nice to start off with, but what happens when you sit down? Deck chairs are no respecters of plays.

I speak from bitter experience, having at one time worn pleated shorts. Before a match I had either to stand up or sit on the edge of a hard seat.

The shorts I now wear are essentially practical, and can be easily washed at home. They are slightly flared, with a permanent crease stitched down the front and back of each leg. They can be either an all-in-one garment, buttoning up the side, or made as a two-piece.

MY "no plays" rule applies also to frocks. A circular skirt gives a practical, slim line and keeps in order. Put your personality into the bodice and collar treatment.

When buying your material bear in mind the hard wear it will have to stand, and don't choose a thin fabric which can be seen through. Fine pique or an anti-crease linen are both fresh and practical for the court.

Take my tip, and have the material washed before it is made up. If it is going to shrink, let it do so then, and you won't suffer later inconvenience. Buy a good quality; it will repay you by keeping fresh and white through the season.

If you are going to make use of last season's outfit, go through it before the week-end, and try on the possibilities. You may have put on weight, and it would be disastrous to find that an underarm pit interferes with the swing of your service.

Now for a last lesson in the art of acquiring confidence. Try your clothes on before a long mirror, then practise the movements of each stroke. With the aid of a hand mirror, look at yourself from the back, bending to pick up balls or to take a low shot. This is important for the shorts wearer.

Now what shoes are you going to wear? This is a most important decision, for uncomfortable feet are poor partners in a tennis match. Light in weight, no heels, of course, and either crepe or white rubber soles.

THESE are three "musts" to bear in mind when buying tennis shoes. The fourth is that they must be comfortable. No tight laces or rubbing heels. And here's a tip to save blisters and prevent that burning ache which comes towards the end of a long set: try wearing hand-knit socks. Soft and thick, they help to break down jarring on a hard court.

But don't wear any socks for more than one day's play. Perspiration tends to harden the wool which, in turn, can cause sore, tender feet. If not painful blisters.

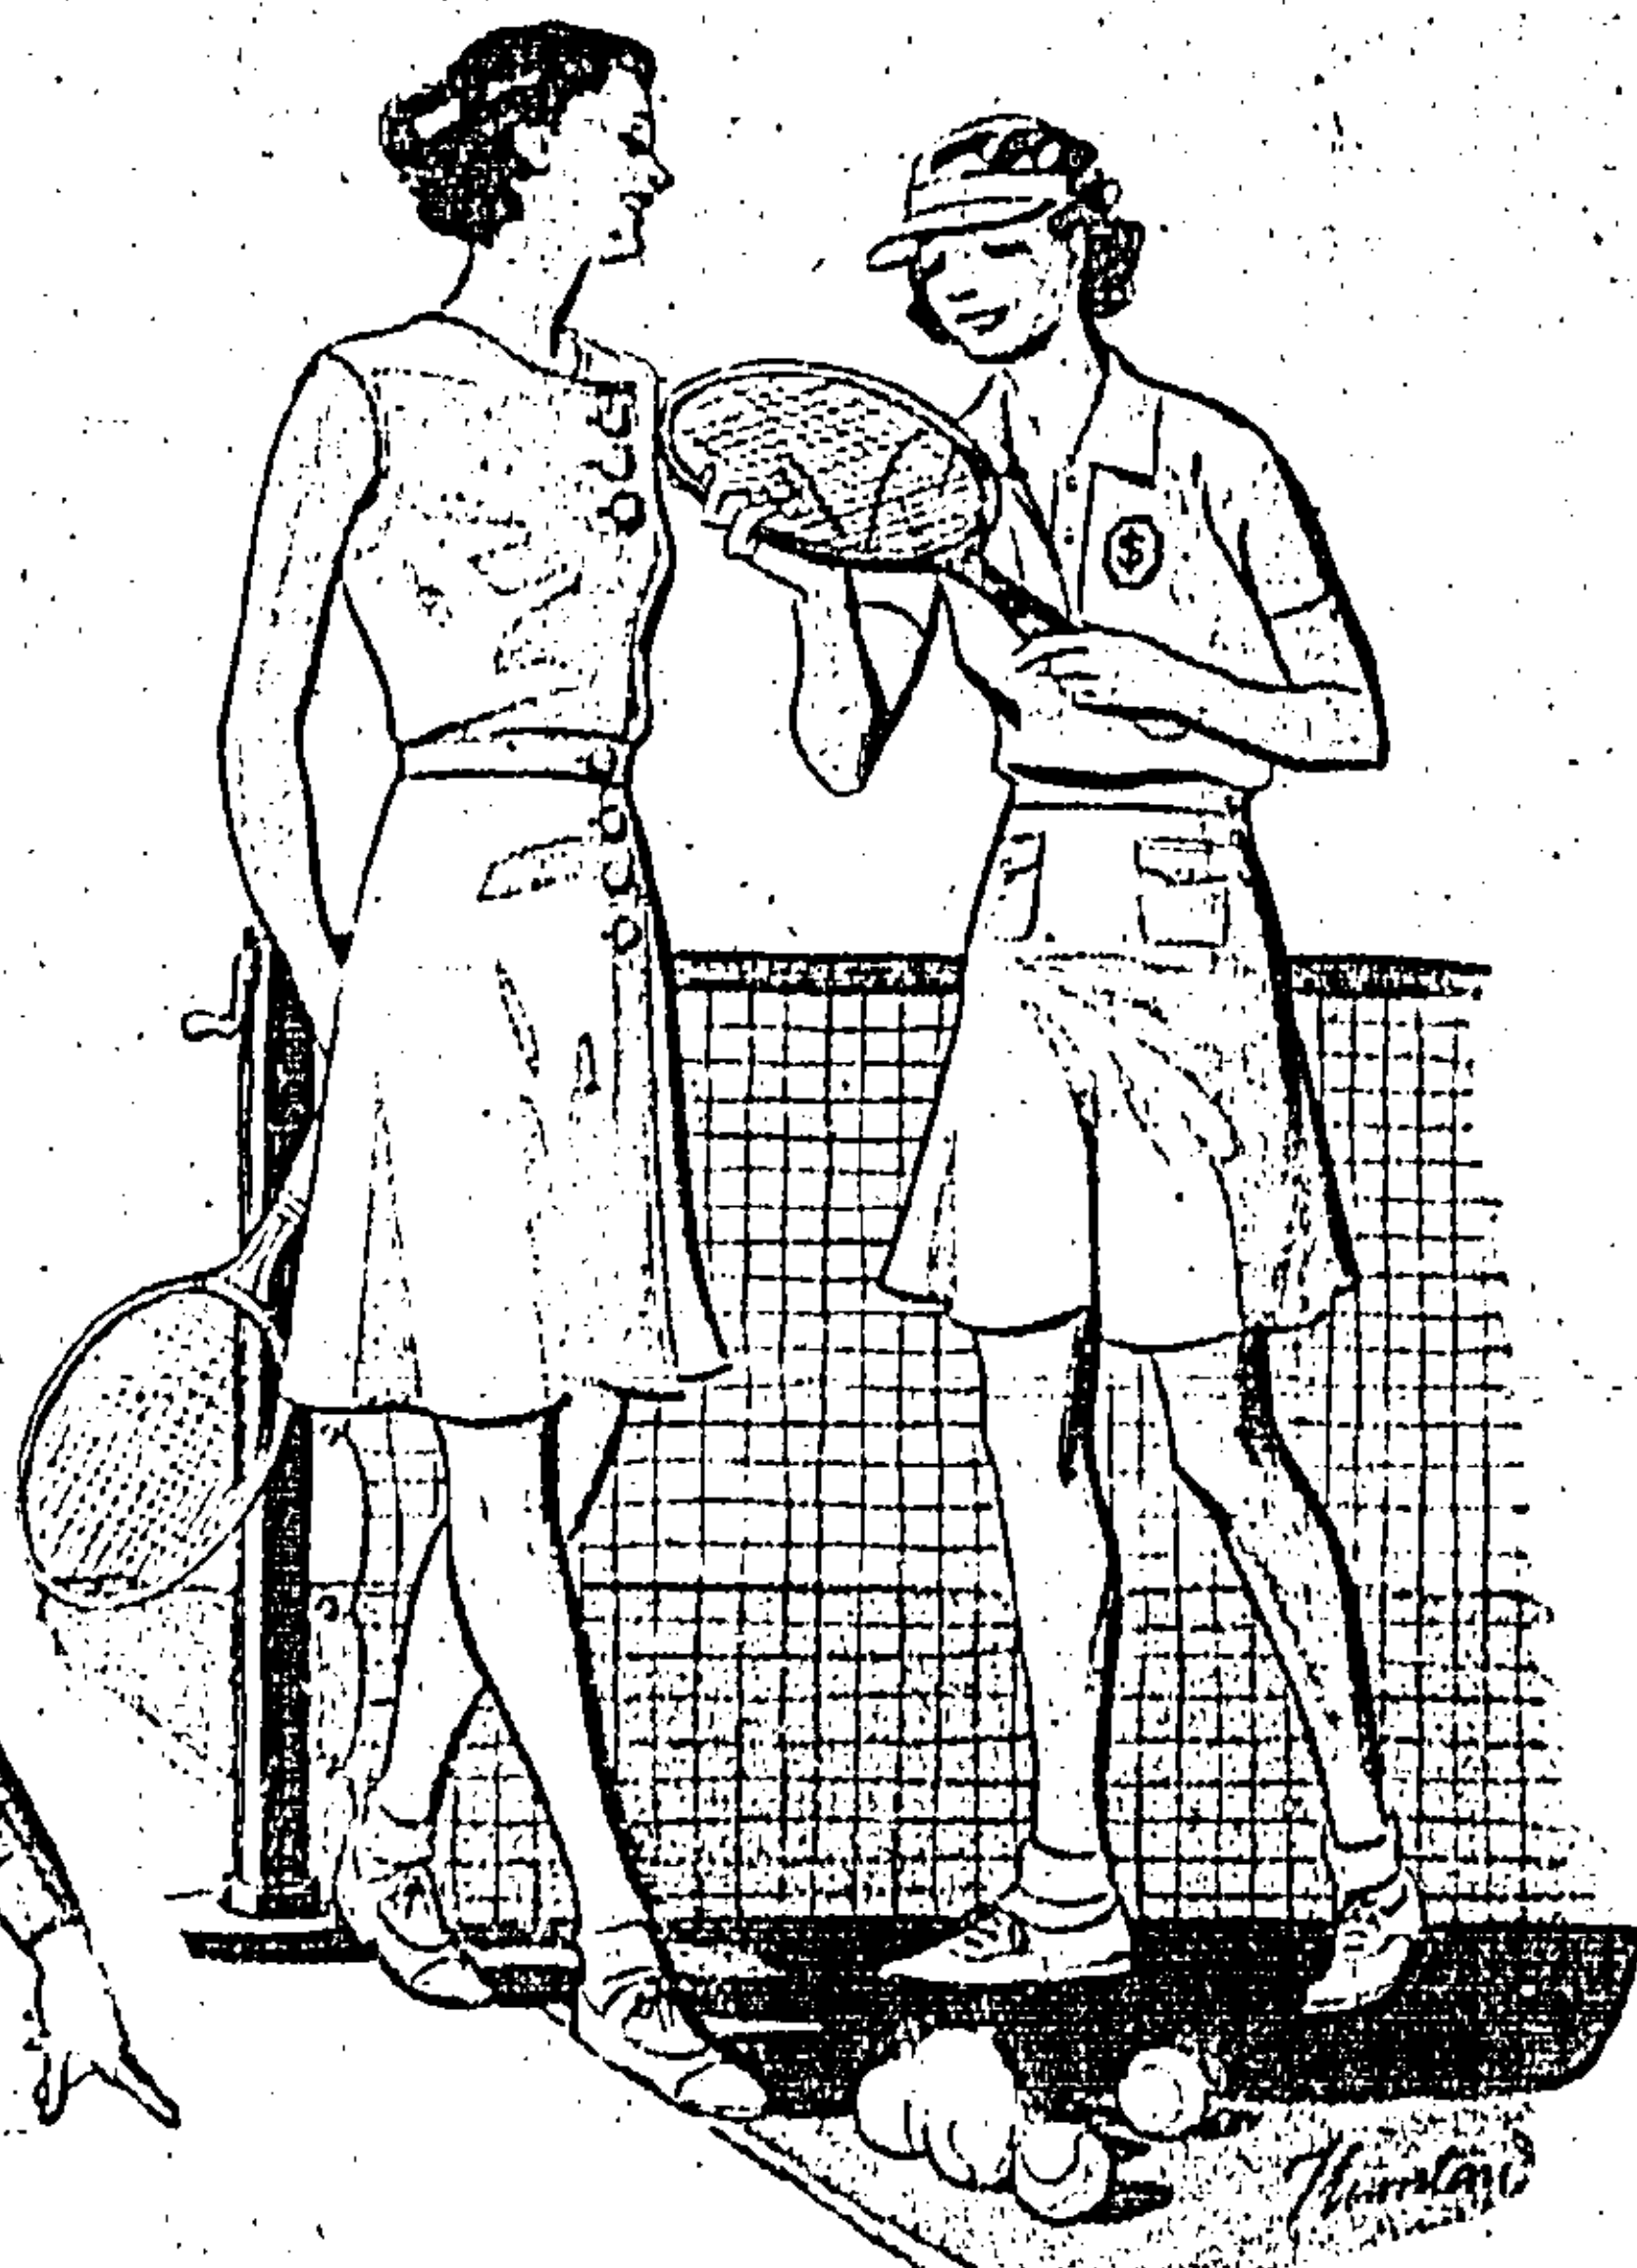

By the way, if you blister easily, try dabbing methylated spirits on the soles of your feet every night for a fortnight. They will soon harden up. Next, a few words about your hair. This must be kept in its place, for you can't very well tell a disconsolate partner after losing a point that the wind blew your hair into your eyes at the critical moment.

The simpler the style of hairdressing, the better for your looks and your play. If you use an eye shade, you can wear one of those hair clips with elastic round the edge. If you prefer a ribbon, I suggest an invisible net, kept in place either with grips or hairpins.

OF course, you know that a hairpin should be hooked at one end to keep it secure, but have you tried putting in two invisible hairpins together to form a lock? This grand tip was given to me by a hairdresser, and I must say it has prevented me from centering pins about the court, and saved me from the disaster of a net blowing off in the middle of a set.

If you play tennis seriously, you are bound to get hot, even on a cool day. And this brings me to make-up. Take my advice and be sparing with the powder-puff and rouge pot on tennis afternoons, or you won't look pretty when beads of perspiration begin to break through.

FOR this reason, I recommend tennis players to abandon eye black (unless, of course, you use a waterproof mascara), for it is most painful if it runs into the eyes.

After play, you'll slip into a jersey cardigan, so these deserve special mention, or you may find yourself either too hot or not warm enough. I suggest one long-sleeved warm cardigan and a thinner one with short sleeves. Have them buttoning all the way up so that you don't ruffle your hair pulling them over your head.

The lighter woolly will be suitable for summer, while the two can be worn together in cold weather. Contrasts are nice. For instance, the thick cardigan could be in navy and the thin one in sky blue.

One last word, jewellery and jangling bracelets are taboo on the court. Take my advice and leave them at home, otherwise you will undo the effect of all you have striven to attain.

SPRING CHICKEN

Two Ways to Serve It

WITH bread sauce, peas and potatoes, a stuffed chicken will go a long way round a small family. And now is the time to serve it, for at this season fowl is inexpensive.

If the bird is already plucked and dressed, slice it with a damp cloth. Take out the skin and cut off the neck close to the body, leaving a flap of skin to fold over the back.

Dis the legs in boiling water to remove the outer skin, fold the wings over on to the back of the bird, then stuff it with forcemeat made as follows:

Shred together 4oz. bread crumbs, 2oz. shredded suet, 1 tablesp. chopped parsley, 1 tablesp. thyme, a pinch of nutmeg, half a teaspoonful lemon rind, a good pinch of salt and pepper. Add a beaten egg and a little milk if necessary to bind the mixture together.

Well-Trussed

Now to truss the bird. Hold it with the head towards you, pass a threaded needle through the second joint of the wing, across and through the other joint.

Draw the string across the back to hold down the neck skin, and pass it through the other wing. Tie the two ends firmly together.

Next, draw the string through the back of the bird, near the tail, pass it over one drumstick, catching in the tail, then over the other drumstick and tie firmly.

Sprinkle the chicken with seasoned flour, put it into a tin with some dripping and place greaseproof paper over the breast to prevent burning. Bake for an hour, according to size, in a moderate oven, basting frequently with the gravy.

Ten minutes before serving, place a few sausages on the bird to cook.

Poulet Casserole

To make perfectly sure of a tender meal cook the chicken in a casserole. Joint the bird, then fry with four tablespoon of butter in 2oz. butter, first heating this in a casserole. Pour over a pint of stock, cover with a lid, and heat slowly.

Meanwhile, fry a sliced onion, carrot and turnip with two or three mushrooms, and when the chicken is hot, add the vegetables to the casserole, with seasoning to taste. Bake moderately for two hours, frequently basting. Uncover the casserole half an hour before serving, so that the chicken gets nicely browned.

Girls' and Boys' Corner

Dear Readers—Last week's coloured jig-saw puzzle wasn't so very easy, was it? Some of you failed to place the picture together correctly; others were a bit careless, with the result that their efforts were not very neat. But the colouring, generally, was really splendid. The Juniors once again sent in some beautiful work.

After taking age and neatness into account, I have decided that the best effort sent in by Seniors was that of Sam Maciak (aged 12), 27 Bonham Road, while Irene Osmund (aged 8), 29 Jordan Road, Kowloon, comes out on top amongst the Juniors.

Will the winners call at the Telegraph office for their prizes?

Specially commended for good work are Juan MacPallen, Andrew Chou, Margaret Chou, H. K. Hill, Irma Xavier, Pamela Ho, Stefano Moss, Jeanne Freeman and Regina Xavier amongst the Seniors, and Carla Barranilla, Josephine McCauland, Betty Houghton, Nava Green, and Diana Hosking amongst the Juniors.

Stefano Moss—Sorry to hear you haven't been well lately, but glad you are better now. Both you and your younger brother, Umberto, did good work, but not quite good enough to win a prize. Never mind; try again.

Celeste Marques—Sorry you haven't won this week. You did it all right together quite correctly; but the colouring was quite good. Keep on trying, Celeste.

Uncle Eddie.

Several children have asked me to run a Story Contest, so this week I have decided to do so for the Seniors only. Junior readers (that is, readers under ten years of age), should not attempt the Story Contest, but should try and decipher the names of the towns in the puzzle drawings on this page.

Now, you Seniors, can you finish this little detective story in your own words?

CURRY—IN THE INDIAN MANNER

by Home Page Cook

CURRY in the average British household is seldom, in my opinion, a particularly attractive dish.

But knowing how delicious curry can be when served in the real Indian manner and, in addition, what a nourishing and economical dish it is, I visited a well-known Indian restaurant and persuaded the chef to tell me some of his culinary secrets.

Patna Rice

One of the first things to learn is, of course, the correct way of preparing the rice which always accompanies curry.

Wash one cup of Patna rice thoroughly in cold water so as to free it from all loose starch, which tends to thicken in boiling and so to clog the rice. Salt should always be added to the boiling water, as otherwise the rice will be insipid and tasteless. Put the rice in a large saucepan of boiling water, and from the minute the water is again on the full boil allow exactly 15 minutes. Then put the rice on a sieve, pour a jug of cold water over it, let it drain well and toss lightly with a fork before serving, to break up any lumps. Every grain will be separate, dry, and quite hot.

In addition to the rice, chutney is an important feature of any curry; Bombay duck or shredded coconut is also sometimes served.

Muchli Ka Salun

One particularly good curry is called Muchli Ka Salun or fish curry. A simple way to make this is just to rub some sliced fish with curry powder and salt, let it stand for an hour, and then fry in hot oil till golden brown. If you want to follow a more elaborate plan, mix 2 teaspoonfuls of ground onions with 1 of finely chopped chillies, ½ a tea-

2 or 3 small onions, and fry in butter to a golden colour, with 2 chopped cloves of garlic; stir in ¼ a tablespoonful of curry powder, and season with salt. Now add 1 quartered tomato, 1 or 2 tablespoonfuls of hot water, add the meat and cook until well browned. Then cover with about ½ a pint of hot water and simmer gently for 1 to 1½ hours, adding more water if the sauce appears too thick. Half an hour before serving add 3 or 4 tomatoes, peeled and finely chopped.

Seek Khabab

can be made with beef, mutton, or veal. Cut the meat, free from bone and gristle, into squares of equal size and mix with the following: 2 tablespoonfuls of mustard oil, 1 of ground onions, 1 of ground chillies, ½ a teaspoonful of ground ginger, ¼ of a teaspoonful of ground turmeric, 1½ teaspoonfuls of salt, ½ a teaspoonful of ground coriander seed, and the juice of 1 lemon. Let the meat stand in this for 1½ hours. Then put the meat on skewers, brush over with melted butter, and grill. Serve this dish very hot with or Indian bread. This is made with wholemeal flour, worked to a stiff dough with water, divided into lumps the size of an egg, rolled out thinly to the size and shape of a pancake and baked on a griddle or on an iron plate. Press with a cloth before removing from the griddle, so that it fills with air, and punctures.

Ghost Ka Salun

is the name of a delicious mutton curry, which is quite easy to make. Cut the meat in 2in. lengths. Slice

You Spend Six Year Eating

HOW do you occupy your life?

A scientific committee at Nice have been finding out the answer for you.

They say that if you live to be seventy you will probably have spent six years in eating.

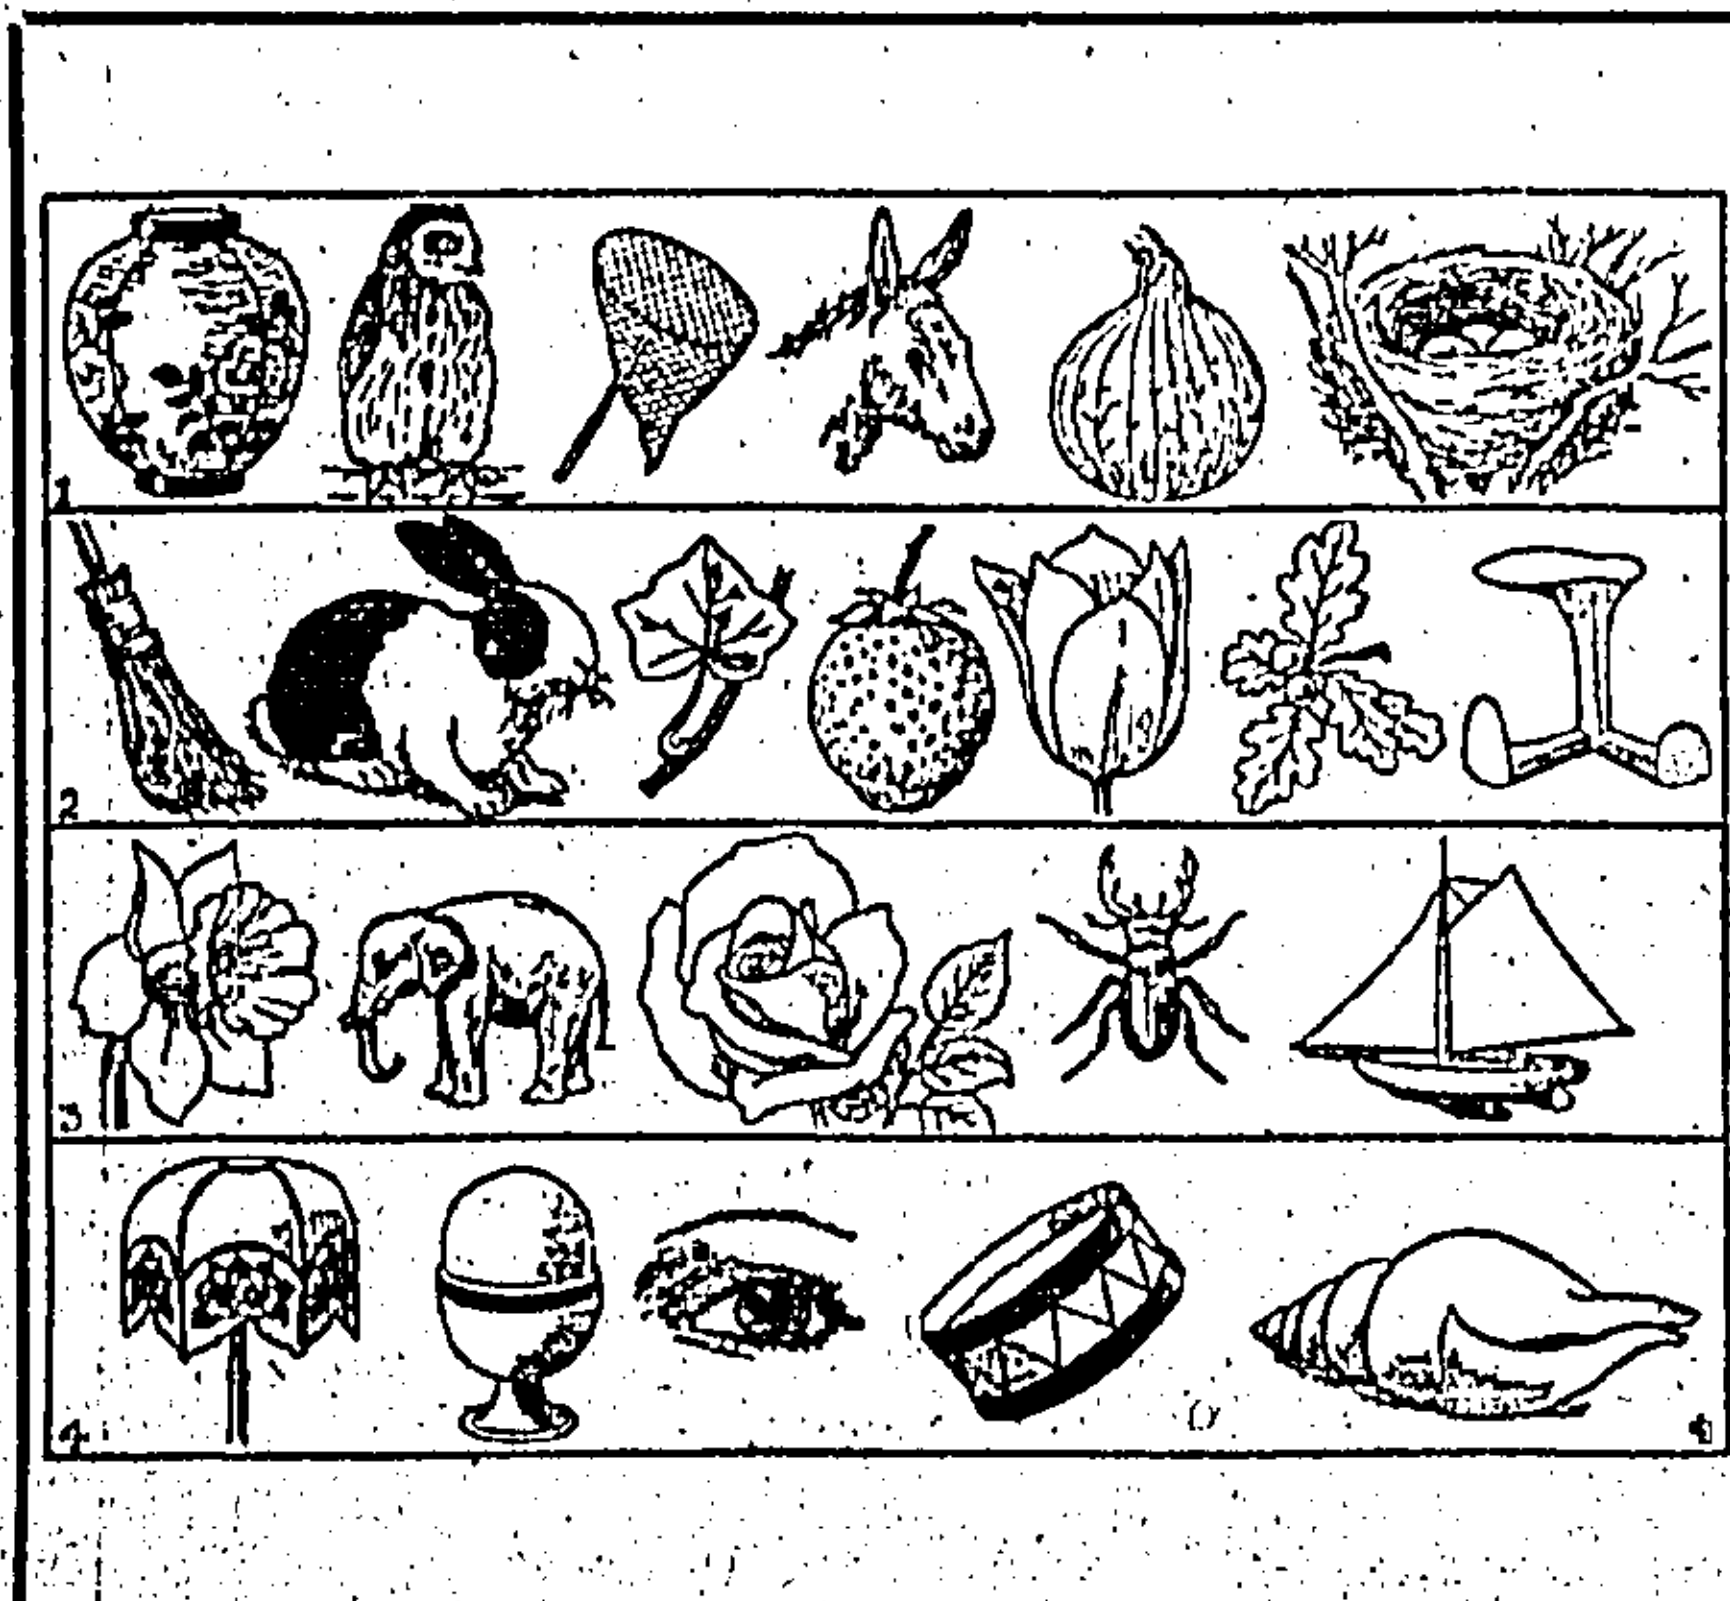

Talking will have accounted for thirteen years, sleep for twenty-three, and work (and/or pleasure) for another twenty-three. But your baths will have used only eighteen months of your time.

Let Egypt March on her Own Feet

"It is nonsense to pretend that the 'Gippy' is not a soldier."

measure of disarmament more stringent and more rigorous than we even tried to impose on Germany.

And now we turn round and say to them:—"But, my dear fellows, the fact is that you aren't fit to defend your own country. So we are just going to keep our troops everywhere we see fit in order to defend it for you." And then we are genuinely surprised that the Egyptians suspect us of bad faith.

Kansas President

THE Massachusetts "primaries" have set all prophets prophesying that Governor Landon of Kansas will be chosen as Republican candidate to fight Roosevelt in the autumn.

I am not so sure. Of all those in the running Landon is most likely to get the Eastern vote. Knox might have rivalled him, but Knox's star is waning at the moment.

But, apart from Kansas—where a will, of course, vote for its favourite son—Vanderburgh of Michigan is more likely to appeal to Western Republicans.

And then there is always Borah, not as a likely winner, but as a disturbing factor in the first votes in the Republican Convention.

I think it is still anybody's race against this short-sighted policy. But the policy went on; quite deliberately, in order to justify the continuance of the occupation and of keeping the Egyptian army under British control.

We have prevented the creation of an Egyptian staff—or even of regimental commanders—competent to organise and lead the Egyptian army; so thoroughly that to-day Egyptian Ministers have no Egyptian military experts fit to discuss military matters with the British experts.

And more than this, the Army has again deliberately been kept untrained and unequipped for anything more than dealing with riots. It has no heavy artillery; only four batteries of field artillery; practically no machine guns; no tanks; no air force worth talking about.

We have imposed on Egypt a

by
W. N. Ewer

CHANCES of the Anglo-Egyptian "conversations" ending successfully before it gets too hot in Cairo for serious negotiation are very small.

Chances of their ending successfully at all unless they are taken in hand by Mr. Eden or some other responsible Minister are small, anyhow.

The method of confronting the Egyptian political leaders with high-powered British naval, military and air experts who explain to them just why it is necessary, for technical reasons, to increase instead of decreasing the British army of occupation and to increase instead of reducing the number of places it occupies, is proving a complete failure.

They Lack Advisers

THE Egyptians, without competent technical advisers of their own, cannot properly judge the strength or weakness of the arguments.

They just feel that "there is a catch in it somewhere" when they are told that it is absolutely essential, for example, to keep British garrisons in Cairo and Alexandria, and to keep a British Air Force at Heliopolis (which is practically Cairo).

It seems to them like a mere dodge to go back on the offers of the 1930 and previous negotiations and to perpetuate the occupation of a country whose independence has been for fifteen years acknowledged in theory.

The real blunder, or crime, or whatever you like to call it, is that, quite deliberately, Egypt has been made incapable of providing for its own defence.

There is no reason at all why, by now, with British technical assistance, there should not be a perfectly adequate Egyptian defence force.

Just Nonsense

IT is just nonsense to pretend that the "Gippy" is not a soldier. A century ago under Ibrahim he showed himself good enough soldier to fight and beat the Turk. At Nizh in 1839, watched by a young Prussian named Von Moltke, Ibrahim's Egyptians smashed a Turkish army, took all its guns and 10,000 prisoners.

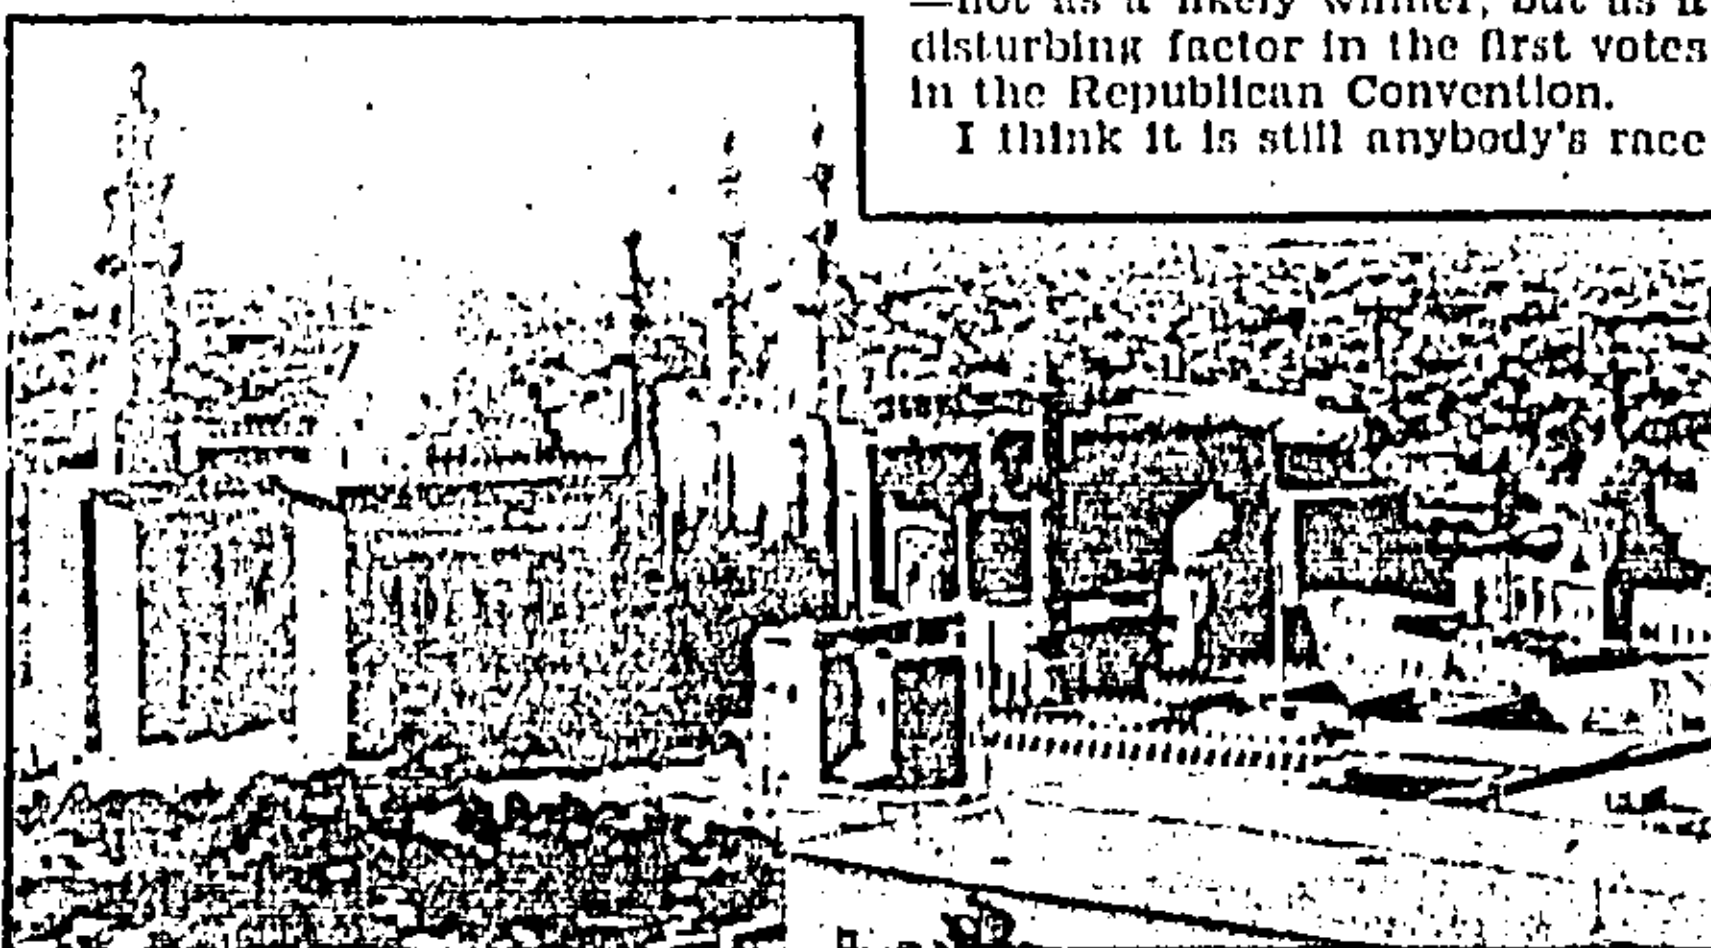

And nobody has yet accused the Turks of not being soldiers.

They fought well, too, in the frontier warfare against the Sudanese in between the fall of Khartoum and Kitchener's campaign; at Afafi, for example, without any "stiffening" of British troops.

40 Years Ago...

All, but that was under British leadership. Admittedly, but they have never, in later years, had a chance of fighting under Egyptian leadership. Egyptian officers have never been allowed to hold responsible command.

Millner protested, forty years ago.

H.K. TELEGRAPH'S PRIZE OFFER

ANNUAL OPPORTUNITY FOR PHOTOGRAPHERS

To-day we are able to announce the full list of prizes in the Hongkong Telegraph sixth annual Amateur Photographic Competition, the biggest contest of its kind in the Far East.

Once again, amateur photographers will have an opportunity of winning valuable prizes, including a special award of one of the famous Filmo Straight Eight movie cameras, valued $235, three silver trophies and $250 in cash. The Competition, which lasts until the end of August, is now open, and intending competitors should send in their entries without delay.

The special prize of a Filmo Straight Eight movie camera, which is generously offered by Mr. Charles E. Rosset, local distributor, will be awarded to what is judged to be the best entry in Section One (Story-Telling Pictures).

Then, Messrs. Ilford, Ltd., of London, have again come forward with two handsome silver trophies, valued at $250, these to be for what are adjudged the two best pictures in the Competition, irrespective of class.

OTHER PRIZES

Other awards will be as follows: Section Two: Chinese Studies—Figures and Faces.—1st, $40; 2nd, $20; 3rd, $10.

Section Three: Views including architecture, landscapes, seascapes, etc.—1st, $40; 2nd, $20; 3rd, $10.

Section Four: Studies in Still Life.—1st, $30; 2nd, $20; 3rd, $10.

Section Five: Snapshots taken by children under 14 years.—1st, $15; 2nd, $10; 3rd, $5.

Section Six: For the best "news happening" picture.—1st, silver cup, donated by Dr. H.F. Bunjo; 2nd, $20.

Full rules and entry forms will be found in the advertising columns to-day.

SPECIAL MOVIE CAMERA

The new Filmo Straight Eight movie camera, which is offered in Section One, is a magnificent prize. It takes 36-foot spools of 8 mm. fine-grain, panchromatic movie film, and brings new economy and simplicity to the making of quality personal movies. The Filmo costs less to operate than a small snapshot camera, yet it produces vivid, true-to-life, motion pictures. It is so small and so light (1½ pounds), that you'll never be conscious of having it with you... until you want to use it. It is so easy to load and to use that even the least mechanically-minded quickly become proficient. And yet it is expertly designed and so sturdy and precisely constructed by Bell and Howell engineers and craftsmen that, on home-sized screens, you could never distinguish its movies from those made with a fine 16 mm. camera. Here are some details of this wonderful little camera:

Lens. Anastigmat 1¼ in. F 2.5 is standard equipment. 1-inch F 2.7 and 1½-inch F 3.5 telephoto lenses available as extra equipment. Lenses are instantly interchangeable—precisely sealed by a spring lock.

Viewfinder. Spyglass type, giving large, brilliant, upright image. Hinged masks match 1-inch and 1½ inch lenses.

Shutter. Rotary disc type, with 160° open segment. Gives uniform exposure over the entire picture area. Four Speeds. 8, 15, (normal), 24, and 32 frames per second; 8 for speeding up action, 24 and 32 for semi-slow motion pictures.

Exposure Calculator. Built into camera slide; gives correct lens setting for every outdoor shot.

Winding Key. Permanently attached; folds flat against side of camera. Loading. Quickly and easily done. No sprockets to thread; no loops to form; gate opens and closes automatically. Can be loaded afield, in daylight, and without having camera down.

NAKAYAMA KILLING RE-ENACTED

The killing of Warrant Officer Hideo Nakayama of the Japanese Naval Landing Force on Darroch Road, Shanghai, at 9 p.m. on November 9, last, was re-enacted at the scene of the crime before Judge Dixon of the First Special District Court, who is presiding over the trial of three Chinese suspects. Lower picture shows "Shao Kwangtung," the confessed murderer being led along by Japanese Constables of the S.M.P. At right is D. S. I. Bradley, while in the background is D. S. I. Crowther and Assistant Municipal Advocate Paul Y. Ku, who is conducting the prosecution. Upper picture shows a Japanese Marine being placed on the spot Nakayama is alleged to have stood when he was shot, while the cross marks the spot where the murderer was supposed to have been.

Lipstick by SAVAGE

Does something quite startling for its water... and for her escort, it somehow makes the moon turn strangely red—the sky becomes deeply purple—the park lagoon transforms itself into an iridescent triple sea... and out of the night comes the impatient throb of jungle drums... or is that just his heart beat? "Savage" is the name of this lipstick because it is savage in all but the smoothness of its own caress. The secret of its allurements is its sizzling jungle red... its clear transparency, and the fact that there's no fussiness to restrain temptation. Four adventurous shades. Tangerine... Flame... ### DARED TO DRAW ON BANDITS

When two armed and masked bandits entered her mother's filling station in Los Angeles and demanded money, Harriet Woody, 18, snatched a pistol from a drawer and pointed it at one of the gunmen. The second bandit fired, seriously wounding the courageous girl. Both gunmen escaped.

KING GEORGE'S STAMPS

£750,000 COLLECTION
SOLD

KING GEORGE'S famous stamp collection, which fills a whole room at Buckingham Palace and which is valued at about £750,000, is not to be sold.

The man who helped King George in his keenest hobby was Mr. Charles Nissen, a London stamp dealer.

Mr. Nissen, a fifty-five-year-old buyer, has a shop in Bloomsbury-street, and for twenty-five years he was the only man to buy stamps for King George.

"He took more interest in stamps as a hobby than anything else," said Mr. Nissen.

"He never failed each day to visit the room where his collection was housed. There must be nearly 100,000 stamps in the collection, yet King George knew each one of them.

"During the war his stamps provided a way of temporary escape from the mental and physical strain. If it had not been for the intense joy he took in his collection I believe his health would have suffered gravely."

SEEK RELEASE OF AL CAPONE

ATTORNEY EXPECTS TO FREE FIRST PUBLIC ENEMY ON LEGAL TECHNICALITY

Chicago, June 1.

Two attorneys were at work to-night trying to build the word
"the" into a legal loophole to free
Al Capone, America's first "Public Enemy No. 1," from his prison cell on Alcatraz Island.

They based their hope for the beer baron's freedom on a new decision in a Federal statute covering extension of grand juries.

Because the law said "the"
instead of "a," the lawyers, William Parrillo and Lyman W.
Sherwood, declared "Scarface Al's" four years behind the bars on income tax charges was a legal nullity, and he should be free.

WILL FIGHT ANY MOVE

An opposite opinion was expressed by United States Justice Department officials at Washington. They said the point was not valid because it was not raised at the racketeer's trial, and that any move to release
Capone would be fought.

But Parrillo announced that he and Sherwood would go within two weeks to San Francisco to file a plea for a writ of habeas corpus.

The avenue they hoped to use already has been approved in another case by Federal Judge William Holly.
Six indicted officials of the Trustee's System Service Corporation were freed because their indictments were returned by a grand jury held over by a judge other than "the" judge who empanelled the jurors.

MAX FACTOR

MAX FACTOR KNOWS ALL THE WINNING COLOURS.

Once again we find ourselves besieged with a host of questions general enough to be passed on in an open discussion. If you have any particular beauty problem which persists in perplexing you, just mail it in. A good customer writes us: "Our consistently warm weather makes armless dresses a constant vogue. I'm ashamed of my rough, ugly elbows. What can I do?"

Your earnest plea is joined by many women, who forget that the face is not the only part of the body which needs lubricating. Massage the elbows well with an emollient skin and tissue cream. The chapped and roughened skin will absorb the cream more thoroughly if you steam it with towels which have been soaked in hot water. It is more desirable to conduct these treatments at night... and more convenient, too. For a quick-day-time treatment, use a few drops of Max Factor's hand lotion. Massage it into the skin until it disappears.

Look what film may cause

Remove FILM this way

The fate of your teeth may rest on what you do to remove film! Don't risk ineffective methods when film may lead to such serious consequences. And don't trust precious tooth enamel to any but a special film-removing dentifrice.

21 years ago a group of men discovered a scientific fact—that film should be removed if teeth are to be kept clean and sound, if gums are to remain healthy. A special formula was devised. Since then it has been constantly improved with one thought in mind: to remove film safely.

Today Pepsodent is known as the "special film-removing tooth paste." It is unexcelled in the way it removes the film that glues decay germs to teeth. Millions know how it polishes teeth to natural brilliance. And it does these things safely. For Pepsodent contains no grit, nothing that might harm or injure tooth enamel.

For whiter, brighter teeth, sound and healthy teeth, use Pepsodent, the "special film-removing tooth paste."

A BROKEN DOWN SYSTEM.

This is a condition (or disease) to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness—break down, as it were, of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its cause, it is almost numberless, its symptoms are much the same, the more prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary duties of life. Now what is the remedy? The answer is in all such cases is increased vitality—vigour, vital strength and energy to throw off these morbid feelings, and as a right succeeds the day this may be more pertinently secured by course of THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY, THERAPION No. 3 than by any other. It is a powerful, purely vegetable preparation, which, taken in accordance with the directions accompanying it, will hasten the return of health and restore the EXPIRING LAMP OF LIFE. LIGHTED UP AFRESH. and a new existence in place of what had been a faded and worn-out, used-up, and valueless one. This wonderful medicine is suitable for all ages, constitutions and conditions, in either sex; and is difficult to imagine a disease or derangement whose main feature is weakness, that will not be speedily and permanently overcome by this remarkable preparation, which is adapted to restore to health everything that had preceded it for this wide-spread and numerous class of human ailments. It is sold in all chemists, or other No. 9, Upper Mall, London, W.2.

FAMILY TRAITS

SEARCH FOR SECRETS OF HEREDITY

EXTRA TOES AND MISSING TEETH

Peculiar family traits which may have been handed down from one generation to another are being sought by the newly formed Bureau of Human Heredity.

The Bureau, which has its headquarters in Gower Street, London, aims at building up a storehouse of information about inherited characteristics, no matter how strange or weird they may be. For instance, if you, like your father and grandfather, have an extra toe on one foot, or one eye differing in colour from the other, the Bureau will gladly place your idiosyncrasy on record.

Mrs. C. B. S. Hodson, the hon. general secretary of the Bureau, recently discussed its aims and objects with a reporter.

"In farming and stock breeding," she said, "a knowledge of heredity has proved so valuable that bureaux have been set up dealing with plant and animal genetics where information is carefully collected and made available to agriculturists. Until now, there has not been a similar service for those interests in the question of human heredity."

"We know that as the result of numerous experiments and research work a mass of information on this subject exists, but it has never been collated and made available for the people needing it. In addition to the facts obtainable from those who have made a close study of heredity and have conducted experiments, we also want any help which the man in the street can give with regard to family characteristics."

MISSING EYE TEETH

"There are many people who have noted unusual characteristics in members of their family, and who have kept a record of them for three or four generations. Such records would be very valuable to us."

Mrs. Hodson described how when she was discussing the work of the Bureau with a man recently, he suddenly said, "Look at my teeth." "They seemed to be very good teeth from what I could see of them," she said. "Then he pointed out that he had only one eye tooth. He explained that in his family in each generation there were always one or two members who had one of these teeth missing."

"There is also an Italian family the members of which have six toes on either foot. They claim descent from a Roman General who was six-toed."

Mrs. Hodson said that it was thought that it would take the Bureau about three years to collect all the data. "We shall then be ready to answer any inquiries we may receive and any advice or information we can offer will be given free. There is one direction in which we shall at once get an enormous amount of data—the inheritance of musical ability."

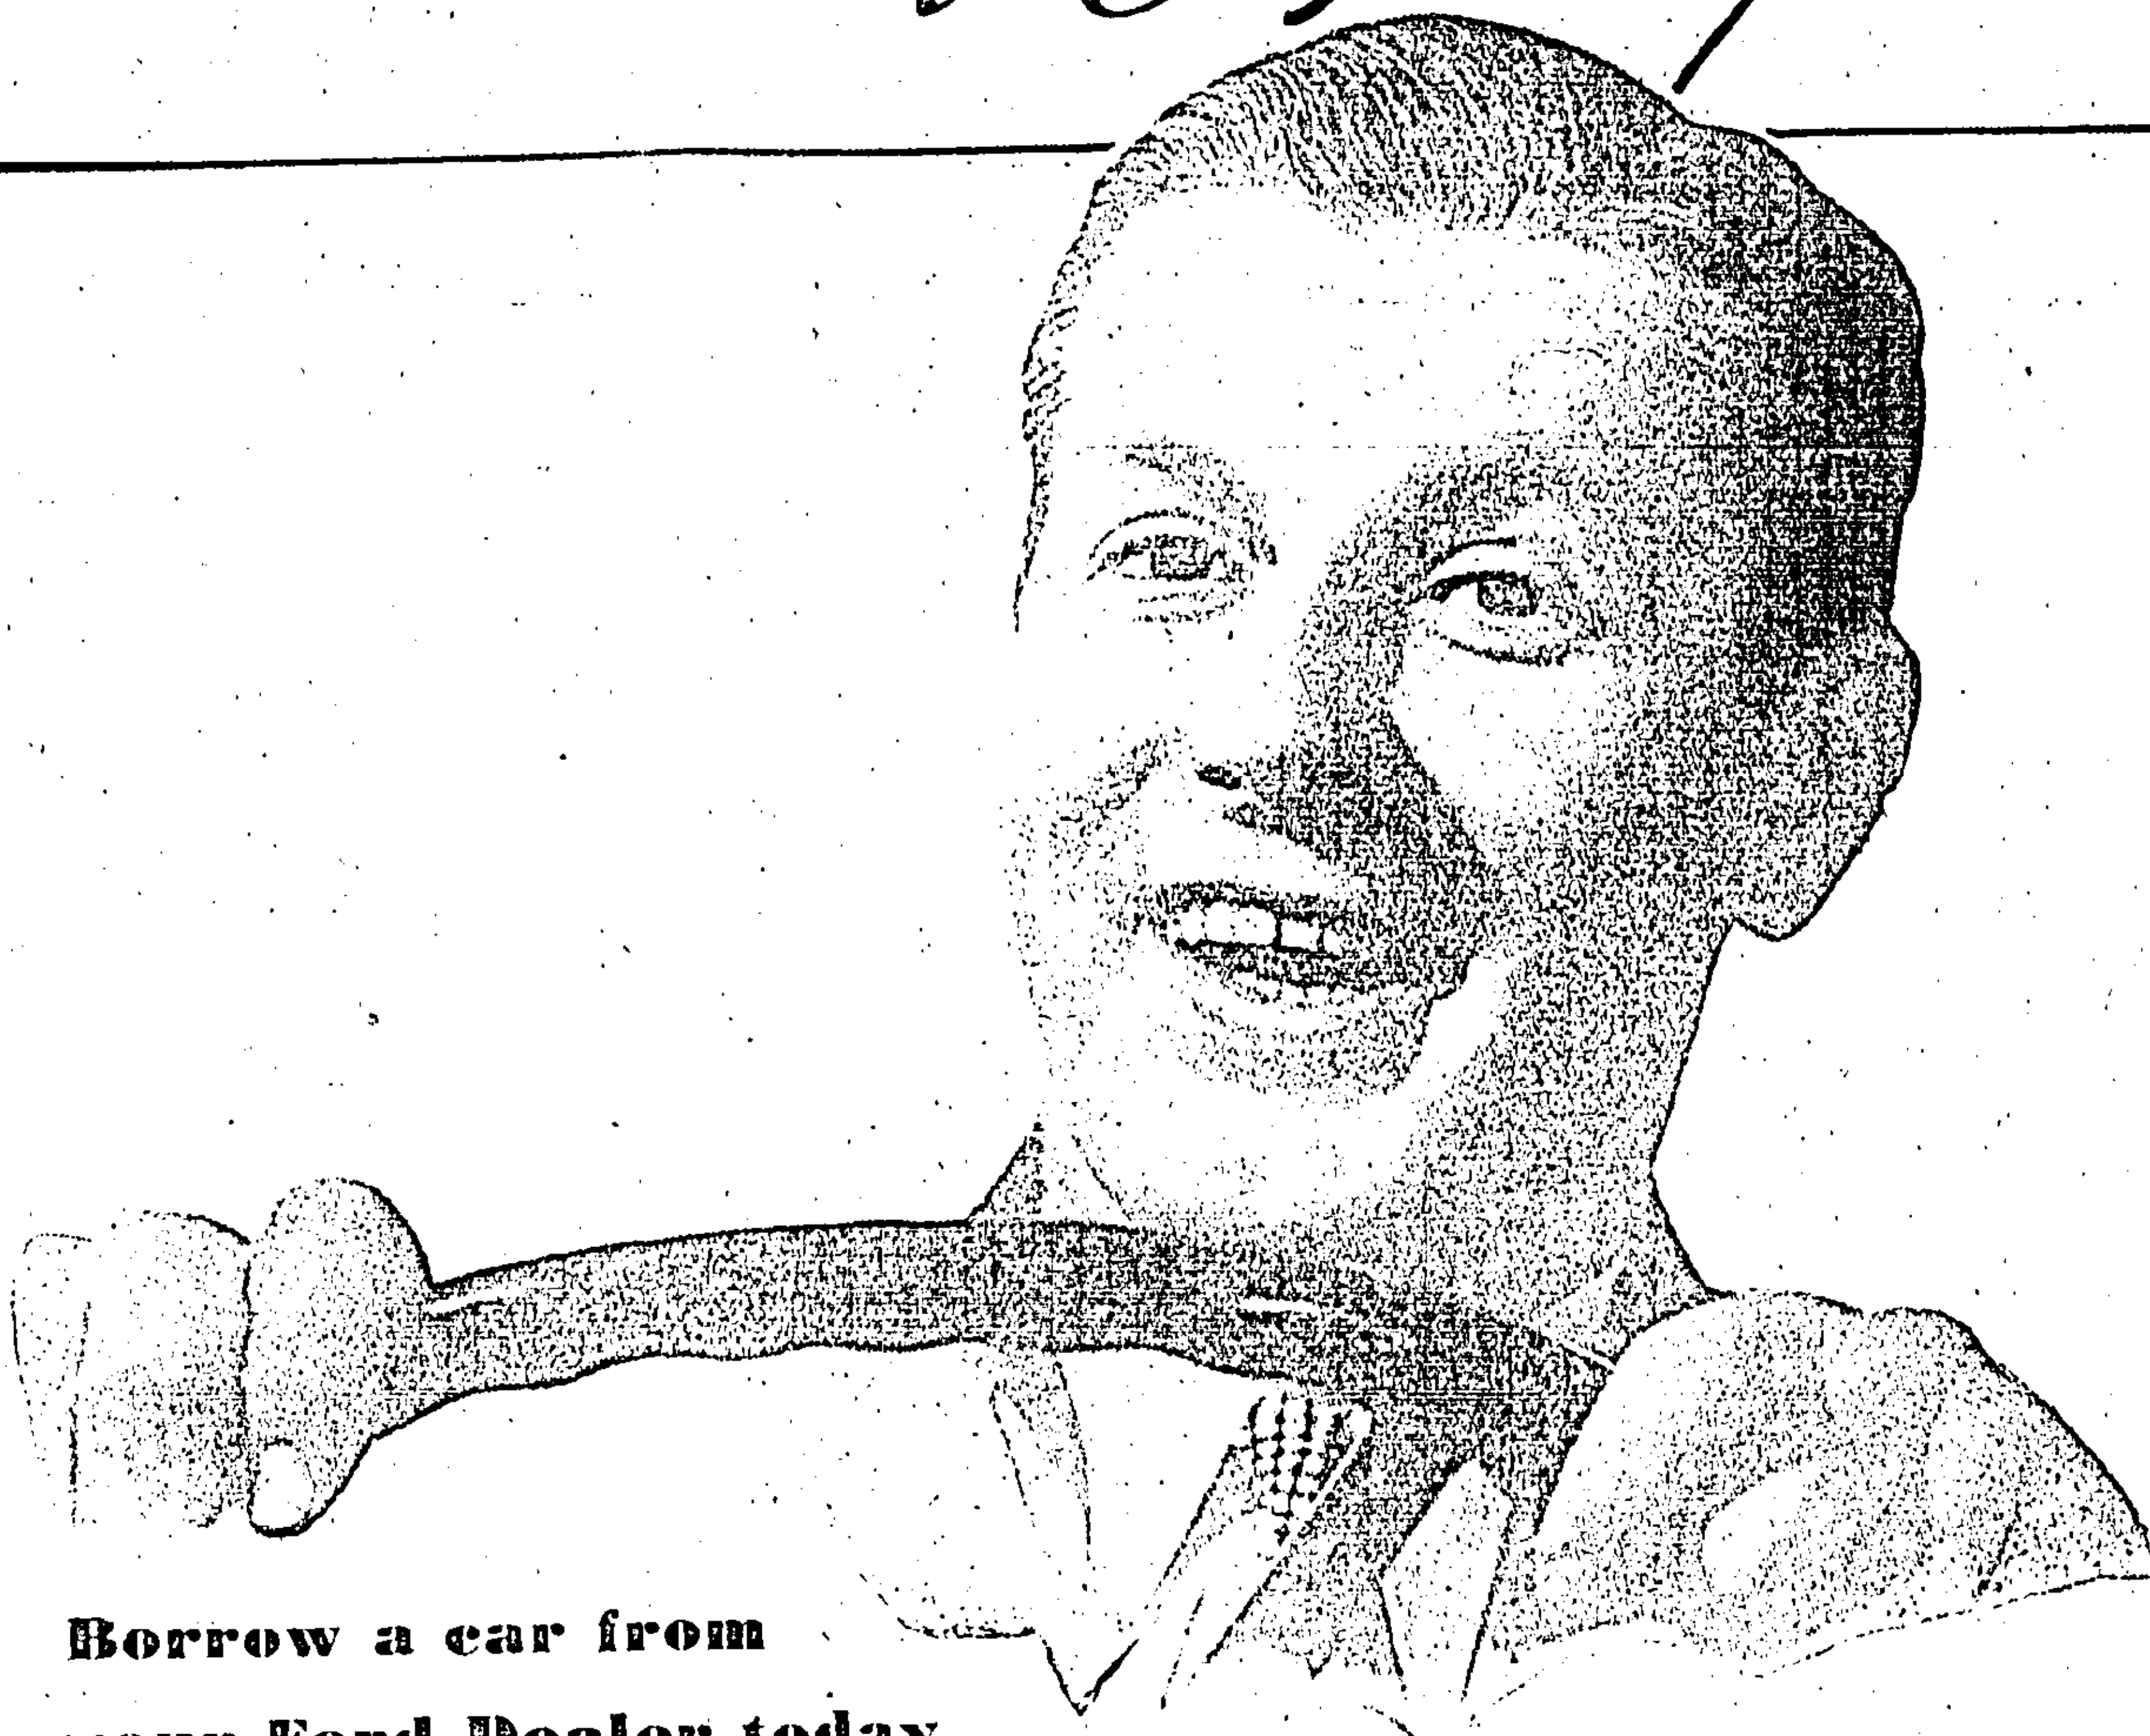

Mrs. Hodson pointed out that three classes of people who urgently need the information the Bureau seeks are the medical profession, to whom it would be invaluable in the treatment of patients; educationists, who would find it of great assistance in dealing with children; and research workers.

Bandit With Hypnotic Eyes

Nice, June 1. Police on the Riviera are searching for a Hindu with a hypnotic eye which apparently is more effective than a gun in "holding up" cashiers. The latest victim of this mysterious bandit is the cashier of a travel bureau in Nice. The cashier handed over £50 to the Hindu when he visited the bureau. "I could not resist his eyes," said the cashier to the police. —United Press.

CRAIGENGOWER'S LEAGUE TENNIS ACHIEVEMENT

DEFEAT SOUTH CHINA

In "D" Div. Match

K. C. C. SUCCESS

Craigengower achieved the comparatively unexpected yesterday when they defeated South China in a "D" Division league tennis match at King's Park. A better balanced team carried off the honours of the day, for although F. N. Wong and P. Liu won three sets for South China, the other two pairs could not compete with the general excellence of the Craigengower combination.

This has put Craigengower at the top of the league with four points from the two matches played. The only other undefeated teams in the division are Police, who did not play yesterday, and India Sports Club, who opened their programme with a resounding victory against Central British Association.

One of the most interesting performances of the afternoon could be credited to Rowland Cricket Club who just missed out. K.T.C. after an interesting match, Perry and Grabbie, were in good form for the winners, while Spary and Blum did well to win two sets.

Details and revised league table follow.

K.C.C. v. KOWLOON INDIANS

H. W. Crabbe and A. E. Perry were the best pair for the Kowloon Cricket Club taking two and a half sets from the Kowloon Indians, who lost by the odd set in nine. Scores: W. Hirst and F. Goodwin (Kowloon C.C.) lost to D. M. Khan and M. A. Khan 4-6; drew with Jahan Dad and A. P. Souza 6-6; lost to N. Ramzan and M. Singh 1-6.

H. W. Crabbe and A. E. Perry (Kowloon C.C.) beat Khan and Khan 6-1; beat Jahan Dad and Souza 6-4; drew with Ramzan and Singh 6-6.

Spary and K. Brock (Kowloon C.C.) lost to Khan and Khan 4-6; beat Jahan Dad and Souza 6-4; beat Ramzan and Singh 6-3.

SOUTH CHINA v. CRAIGENGOWER
Despite the fact that F. N. Wong and P. Liu clinched three sets, South China were defeated by Craigengower at King's Park by the odd set in nine. Scores:

H. N. Chung and E. Zimmer (Craigengower) lost to F. N. Wong and P. Liu 5-7; beat B. K. Liang and T. K. Tang 6-3; beat C. B. Wong and C. M. Tang 6-3.

A. Kitchell and A. R. Hamson (Craigengower) lost to Wong and Liu 1-6; beat Liang and Tang 6-3; beat Wong and Tang 6-2.

T. Locke and G. Choa (Craigengower) lost to Wong and Liu 4-6; beat (Continued on Page 13.)

COUNTY CRICKET

SUSSEX SCORE A GREAT WIN

Low Scoring

London, June 5.
Rain-affected wickets brought about some remarkable results in the county cricket championship yesterday. It made possible the amazing Middlesex victory over Notts, who, needing 223 to win were dismissed in their second innings for a paltry 41 runs.

Smith and Gray had the Nottinghamshire batsmen at their mercy, the former taking six wickets for a dozen runs and Gray four for 20.

MERITORIOUS WIN

Sussex scored a meritorious win against Lancashire after being well in arrears on the first innings and Lancashire having declared their second innings. Lancashire put together 205, Iddon scoring 89 and James Langridge taking 6 for 50 and closed their second attempt at 138 for 7. Sussex responded with 105 (Hopwood 7 for 55) and were set to make 239 to win. This they accomplished for the loss of four wickets.

The results and detailed individual performances as enabled by Reuter follow.

Derbyshire (93 and 125/3) beat Northants (59 and 158) by seven wickets.

Sussex (105 and 239/4) beat Lancashire (205 and 138/7 dec.) by six wickets.

Middlesex (234 and 127) beat Notts (149 and 41) by 181 runs.

Warwick (157/5 dec.) drew with Yorkshire (99/2).

Worcester (130) beat Surrey (116 and 21/0) on first innings.

Hampshire (180) beat Gloucester (155 and 266/3) on first innings.

PRESENTS ALL-STAR CAST IN THE

Tennis Revue Of 1936

Great Britain is at the top of the lawn tennis world. She holds the Davis Cup, while F. J. Perry, a Londoner, holds the Wimbledon title—the blue riband of the game.

Since 1933, when, after 21 years of travelling in all parts of the world, the British players brought back the Davis Cup to these shores, all attempts to wrest it from us have failed.

Nothing succeeds like success, and because Britain is at the top of the tennis tree, her star players are drawing bigger crowds than ever.

The British Hard Court Championships recently concluded at Bournemouth afford an example. Every seat on the stand round the centre court, which holds more than 3,500 people, was sold before the tournament began.

CHASING THE DAVIS CUP

What of the future? "Who is there to follow in the footsteps of Perry or Austin?" I am asked on every side. My answer quite frankly is "Nobody."

But let us consider the situation. France chased the Davis Cup with the same team—Borotra, Brugnon, Lacoste, and Cochet, known as the "Four Musketeers"—from 1922 till 1927, when she eventually wrested it from the United States, who had held it from 1920.

Then Britain began the quest, and a long chase it was.

Eventually Austin and Perry joined the team, and very gradually Britain crept up from a bad fourth to a good second, until, in 1933, Austin and Perry, by winning the majority of the singles, beat France in the challenge round by three rubbers to two.

BEST IN THE WORLD

Besides Austin and Perry, who, I consider, are the best two singles players in the world, we have the formidable doubles pair, G. P. Hughes and C. R. D. Tuckey, and a second doubles string in F. H. D. Wilde and C. E. Hare. The possibility, therefore, of Britain losing the national championship seems very remote.

It was age that lost France the trophy, as it was also when the United States lost to France. Perry is 20 and Austin 29. At the age of 31 a player is considered to be approaching the "veteran" stage in the strenuous lawn tennis of to-day.

I make no excuse for believing that Perry will retain the singles at Wimbledon. One very able critic said to me at Bournemouth that he considered Perry the best player the world has ever seen, not excluding Tilden, the Doherty brothers, and Brookers. I agree.

Austin is a good second. Therefore, why need we worry about our chance this year in the Davis Cup? In racing parlance, barring accidents, "it is a certainty" for Britain.

The outlook two or three years ahead, however, is not so rosy; for Perry and Austin are so far superior to any of our other young players that it is difficult to see who will eventually take their places. Our women players have not been so consistent in their gallant endeavour to raise our prestige. True Miss Dorothy Round won at Wimbledon in 1934, but failed last year. Yet she, to my mind, is the best all-round woman player in the world to-day.

BEAUTIFUL FOOTWORK

Lapses she has, as at Bournemouth when she was defeated by Mrs. M. R. King, but what a grim fighter! Her footwork is a joy to watch, and her fluency of strokes such that one wonders why she is not a second (Continued on Page 13.)

India's Cricket Team Now In England

Although it cannot be said that the All India side at present in England ranks with the Australians or even with South Africa, there is no doubt that they are a useful lot of cricketers, and that cricket is advancing by leaps and bounds in India. Before very long it seems probable that they will be at least as good as South Africa and will have a reasonable chance of defeating England's full strength—occasionally at any rate.

At present it looks as if they are only slightly better than the West Indian team was in about 1900, or perhaps about the equal of New Zealand's best sides. But of recent years the game seems to have spread tremendously among the Indian people, of every caste and creed, and in 1935-36 a side, captained by the Maharaj Kumar of Vizianagaram beat the very strong team which D. R. Jardine took out by 14 runs. Recently All India beat the touring Australian team, though of course it was in no sense a representative side.

I am not suggesting that cricket is a new importation into India. So long ago as 1886, two years before C. Aubrey Smith took his first team to South Africa, an eleven of Parseses for Persia, if you prefer, visited England, though they could not claim first-class status; while in the late '90's Ranji showed that the game was peculiarly suited to the Indian's quick sight and supple wrists.

Seeing that we, who are keen on cricket here have at present nothing to do but read the abominably scanty reports of cricket at home, which are telegraphed out, it occurred to me that there was, perhaps, an occasion for an article upon Indian cricket and the present tour. When, however, I began to look into things I found that it was quite impossible to include in a single article the various interesting (to cricketers) that (it) facts which I had dug out. I also found that although I had read the cables which have appeared dealing with the doings of the present side, I had an imperfect notion of what the actual position was, owing to the intervals which occur between the cables. I have therefore decided to-day to give a general synopsis of what has happened up to the game ending on June 3. In a subsequent article—or articles—I shall set down briefly a general sketch of India's cricket struggles with other countries. Any article dealing with the internal history of the game would be of very little local interest, apart from the fact that sources of information are very inadequate.

A POOR START

Though I had retained a general impression that the Indian side had not been doing too well I was rather shocked to find just how badly they have done to date. Of the nine first class games they have played they have lost five, three by fairly heavy margins. The remaining four have I believe been drawn though there is an extraordinary discrepancy between the figures cable out as to the game under review. Leicestershire, University, and those given in an article by Howard Marshall, which was reprinted recently in the local press. I shall refer to it later.

But before writing the side off as a bad one, it must be recalled that it often happens that a touring side fails to find its form in the first month, and, more especially, that the Indians of all teams are particularly affected by bad conditions of weather. On a cold and damp day they are a completely different team to the one that is seen in really hot weather. And so far, to a great extent, conditions have been largely against them. They have however shown that they can make runs all right upon occasion.

THE FIRST GAME

It seems to be a point of ritual in these days for a touring side to start their programme against Worcester. It is true that they opened their shoulders a bit on April 29 in a day's cricket at Gravesend, playing against an eleven captained by Tich Freeman. But the tour proper began on May 2 when they won the toss against Worcester and after being led by 10 runs only on the first innings, collapsed rather in their second innings and were all out for 150 of which S. M. Hussain made 55. Mohammed Nissar was in good form with the ball and his fast deliveries took five for fifty, and it was only thanks to J. H. Hume, who made fifty-four and sixty-eight that Worcester pulled off the game by the narrow margin of three wickets.

WHAT HAPPENED?

The next game was played on May 6, 7, and 8 against Oxford University and the cable result (both in an evening and a morning paper here) read "Oxford 297; All India 103 for 5 match drawn. But in an article reprinted here on May 20 it gives the detailed score—apparently to the morning of the 8th—the last day—as Oxford 202; India 352; Oxford (2nd innings) 130 for 2 wickets. (What actually happened is that it is that Oxford scored 202 and 297 (total 499) while All India made 352 and 103 for 5, (total 455) leaving the match drawn rather in India's favour.

POWERS OF RECOVERY

Their bowling seems to be the trouble at present as Somerset in the next game ran up 400, which included a century by the new blitzer Gimblett—who unless I am much mistaken comes from West Buckland School in Devonshire, and it was only a fine recovery by India, after following on that saved the innings defeat. V. Merchant scored a fine 114 out of an innings of 350 runs. Somerset however hit up 87 for one to win by nine wickets.

The next match, against Northampton, showed the Indians in good form again and their best batsman, (or so general opinion goes) Amar Nath, made his first century, scoring 114 out of an innings of 350 runs. Somerset however hit up 87 for one to win by nine wickets.

At Lord's however the M.C.C. turned out a very good side and also won the toss, making 302. Against this India could only score 105 and, following on, 230. It was interesting to see that Jehangir Khan will play for them when he is not needed for Cambridge. In this game he scored 80 in the second innings. His first cricket in England was of course played for India in the Summer of 1932 before he went up to Cambridge where he is now completing his fourth year. However the M.C.C. knocked off the 36 required without losing a wicket.

Against Leicester India made 429 and 171/0, a new man B. Jilani (or Jafari) made 113. He is generally supposed to be a better bowler than bat. E. H. D. Sewell in his comments in the Cricketer's Spring Annual says, "curiously enough, of their test side, 'if Jehangir comes in, Baqa Jafari must drop out, and Jehangir must be played purely as a bowler whose 'cow-shot' might get three or four fours, and not as a potential batsman who might get wickets."

It is queer how often any definite dictum about cricket gets upset. Jehangir Khan has been doing a good deal more with the bat than the ball for Cambridge though he is bowling very well. To return to the game under review Leicestershire made 327 and 47 for no wicket. It is clear that so far the Indian attack is not up to getting its opponents out cheaply or fast enough to win matches.

TWO MORE LOSSES

In the next two games India (it seems) won the toss but lost by four wickets to Middlesex and by 7 wickets to Essex. The latter match was brightened by a brilliant feat by Amar Nath who scored 130 out of 184 and 107 out of 227—a fine performance. By the way Mr. Sewell points out that the correct pronunciation of his name is 'Ummer Nath'. The last game to hand was drawn owing to rain. India made 161 at Fenners, after a bad start, of which Wazir Ali got 85 not out. Cambridge made 217 runs.

To sum up. There are clearly very good batsmen in the side but one is tempted to suspect that it is rather given to collapse. The bowling definitely seems weak. But it is very possible that should the summer develop into a fine and hot one great improvement will be shown in both departments of the game.

RADIO S.C. v. C.B.A.
Playing at King's Park, the Radio Sports Club defeated the Central British Association by seven sets to two. Gurbachan Singh and Karnal Singh played well for the winners, annexing three sets. Scores: W. J. Chanson and N. B. Kitchell (Radio S. C.) beat F. D. Angus and G. Gurevitch 6-3; beat S. Fowler and M. Yatskin 6-3; lost to D. Smith and J. Clayton 2-6.

M. Sheriff and M. H. Hassan (Radio S. C.) beat Angus and Gurevitch 6-4; beat Fowler and Yatskin 6-0; lost to Smith and Clayton 3-6. G. Singh and Karnal Singh (Radio S. C.) beat Angus and Gurevitch 6-4; beat Fowler and Yatskin 7-5; beat Smith and Clayton 6-3. The match between the Army Tennis Club and the Police Recreation Club at Sookunpoo was not played owing to the courts being wet.

Stanley Doust Tennis Revue Of 1936

Lengthen. Miss K. Stammers, ranked equal with Miss Round as Britain's No. 1 woman player, is colourful, but not so dependable. Of similar height and build, these two great sportswomen are a credit to Great Britain wherever they play.

But women's lawn tennis is extending far beyond British, American, and Continental players. A new challenge has come from far-off countries and it must be reckoned with seriously.

We have seen already this year the wonderful success of the little 4ft. 3in. Chinese girl, Miss Gem Hoahing. She is only 15, and she gave Miss Round a very close match at the recent Melbury Club (Kensington) hard court tournament.

Then there is Senorita Anita Lizana, five feet of daintiness from Chile. This girl, quietly and without any demonstration, made all Bournemouth go agog with excitement.

Such is the faith that her own people have in her that they raised £4,000 to send her over here this year—which is more than it costs to send our team of five chasing the Davis Cup in any one year.

I am assured that if Anita Lizana does not win at Wimbledon this year she will come again next year, and every year until success crowns her efforts.

In the meantime Britain can look forward to her tennis season with supreme confidence. All is well for the success of both our men and women players; that is my prediction.

MEETING C.R.C. AT CAUSEWAY BAY

Play Kowloon Cricket Club To-morrow

The four Siamese tennis players who are on a visit to Hongkong will start their heavy programme of matches against local clubs this afternoon when they will be entertained by the Chinese Recreation Club at Causeway Bay.

To-morrow they meet Kowloon Cricket Club, on Monday they are at the Indian Recreation Club, on Tuesday at Club de Recreo, and after resting on Wednesday will appear in public exhibitions arranged by the H.K.L.T.A. at the Cricket Club on Thursday and Friday.

C.R.C. have chosen Tsui Wal-pul, Tsui Yun-pul, Lu Tak-cheuk and W. C. Hung to play against the visitors. It is not quite certain whether Hung will be able to turn out as he was not feeling very well yesterday.

K. C. C. TEAM CHOSEN

Kowloon Cricket Club are turning out five of their "A" Division team to oppose the Siamese to-morrow afternoon in the visitors' second match of the tour.

K. C. C. will be represented by: E. C. Fincher, G. Bodiker, A. E. P. Guest, F. Grose and G. Clark.

PLAYERS SHOW THEIR FORM

Further practice was put in by the Siamese tennis players at the Kowloon Cricket Club yesterday, but they still found difficulty in becoming accustomed to the soft state of the court and found themselves mistiming ground shots.

Nevertheless generally speaking they revealed improved form on that of the previous day. They had recovered from the effects of the searip and engaged in three hard-going sets of doubles as well as prolonged stroke practice.

All four players hit hard and volleyed decisively. There is little doubt that they will hold their own against local clubs teams and by next Thursday should be in good trim for the exhibitions on the Cricket Club ground.

Muang Roeng displayed a very fine backhand and there is a very distinct similarity between him and Leonardo Gavira, the Philippines champion, both in physical appearance and in style of play. Muang possesses most of the strokes and knows how to use them to best effect. His net interceptions are excellent illustrations of clever anticipation and good stroking.

Hamong is a sound, rather than a spectacular player, while Prachub is essentially a doubles performer and in this type of game is capable of holding his own with the best in Hongkong.

RIDDLE OF ROYAL SECRET

FUAD'S ENVELOPE FOUND OPENED

Cairo, May 30.
There was a sensation to-day at the ceremony of "the opening of the envelope" containing the names of the men selected by the late King Fuad to act as Regency Council.

When the Chamber assembled it was revealed that an envelope enclosing the names had been found open among the late King's private papers.

This discovery caused a tensely dramatic moment.

The seals were scrutinised with microscopes by the light of electric torches, while the politicians crowded round.

However, another sealed envelope containing a copy of the King's list was found intact. It had been deposited with the Presidency Council.

"NO" TO FUAD'S WISH

This envelope was opened and read to the Chamber.

It contained the same names as the envelope which had been found opened.

Parliament did not accept the wishes of the late King Fuad. His choice was: Tewfik Nassim Pasha (former Prime Minister), Adly Yeghen Pasha (former Prime Minister, now dead), Mahmoud Fakhr Pasha (Egyptian Minister in Paris for the past 12 years, son-in-law of King Fuad).

Those elected by Parliament were:

Prince Mohamed Ali, nephew of Fuad. His Presumptive.

aged 60. Well known in London.

Aziz Izzet Pasha, Former Minister in London.
Cherif Sabri Pasha, Foreign Under-Secretary.

These will rule as Regents during the minority of King Farouk.

21 MONTHS' RULE

King Fuad's choice was made in 1922.

King Farouk was 16 last February, and comes of age according to Mohammedan tradition when he is 18, so that the Regency Council will rule for about 21 months.

King Fuad's wishes regarding the Regency Council were subject to the approval of Parliament.

Immediately afterwards King Farouk was proclaimed a letter from the new King to the Premier, Ali Maher Pasha, was read, asking that the King's privy purse be reduced by £50,000 "for the good of the country."

THIRD PHOENIX SUICIDE

Vienna, May 31.

THE Austrian Phoenix Life Insurance Company scandal claimed its third suicide victim to-day.

Dr. Ernst Kleebinder, editor of the Vienna Sonn- und Montag Zeitung, who appeared on the list, published by the Austrian Government last week, of those who received money from the Austrian Phoenix, poisoned himself with cyanide to-day at the Jugo-Slavian health resort of Sushak.

He was officially stated to have received over £25,000.

The Austrian Phoenix Company was dissolved and placed under State control at the end of March, following the discovery of a deficiency of £10,000,000 in its premium reserve cover.

Two earlier victims were:

Dr. Ochsner, civil servant, whose duty it was to supervise Austrian insurance, shot himself immediately after the revelations.

Johanna Litwin, sister of Dr. Wilhelm Beerthner, the managing director of the Phoenix, who died shortly before the revelations, gassed herself a fortnight ago.

Herr Friedrich Gruebel, sub-director of the company, and Herr Autengruber, former president of the insurance section of the Czech-Slovakian Home Ministry, have been arrested on suspicion of being involved in the scandal.

Rajah Does Not Wish His Children To Go To England

Madras, June 1.

The Rajah of Vizianagaram appeared in Madras High Court to-day in connection with an order he is seeking to restrain the Secretary of State for India from sending four of the Rajah's children to Britain for their education.

The Rajah petitioned for the transfer of the case from the judge at Vizianagaram.

The High Court dismissed his petition, but issued a temporary injunction restraining the Court of Wards from sending the children to England for the present.

The Rajah said that the English climate is severe, and he did not think it was satisfactory that boys should have to sleep in a dormitory. It might endanger the lives of the children if they were sent to England. He thought the education imparted in India was better than anything given in England.—Exchange.

The New Royal Cypher Approved

Designs of the new Royal Cypher which has been approved by the King were published in London last month and are reproduced above.

The Royal Cypher (left) is that used by all Departments of State and Public Bodies. It is also the Cypher which normally appears on Regimental Colours, Standards, Guidons, Badges, Arms, and Appointments.

The Imperial Cypher (right) is that used in India for similar purposes.

The Royal Cypher, reversed and interlaced (centre), is a special design employed on the Colours of certain battalions of the Foot Guards and on the Appointments of such other regiments for which it is authorized instead of the Royal Cypher.

OXFORD ATTACKS PUBLIC SCHOOLS

BREEDING-GROUNDS OF COMMUNISM

90 PER CENT. "HOOLIGANS"

An accusation of fostering Communism and discontent is brought against Great Britain's public schools in the current issue of the Isis, the Oxford University undergraduate journal.

Referring to recent Left wing views expressed at union debates, Mr. Keith Briant, the editor, declares:

"The public school system encourages worship of athleticism for its own sake, and this produces a school composed of 90 per cent. of unthinking young hooligans."

"Their brains are only comparable to empty dustbins, capable of holding any amount of disconnected facts."

"The house master at a public school has it in his power to forbid the reading of any writer, past or present, whose works challenge the existing order of things in the State, the Church, or the realm of sex."

"After such an atmosphere it is not difficult to realise the state of mind which those who arrive at Oxford bring to a debate at the union."

In a kind of exhibitionist fury they determine to get their own back; they want to be different, always to back the losing side, to pillory anything with the least taint of Conservatism."

"The cause of this revolutionary hysteria is the present educational system in public schools, which is the best conceivable breeding-ground for Communism and discontent."

DUCHESS WAS REPRIMANDED

—By A Servant

An estate servant once reprimanded the Duchess of Atholl. Story was told by the Duchess herself in the House of Commons recently.

She recalled that once she protested against the practice of giving holidays to children to enable them to do seasonal work.

The servant afterwards warned the Duchess that she was running grave risk of "losing a crop."

The Duchess said to the committee: "I do not think I have ever been hauled over the coals so much before."

She moved an amendment to the Education (Scotland) Bill. The amendment proposes to release children to give temporary assistance. It was still under discussion at the adjournment.

WOMAN SHOT IN COURT

BY MAN WHO ACCUSED HER

After accusing a woman of swindling him of £500 a man drew a revolver from his pocket and fired at her in the court of the examining magistrate at Nantes recently.

The man, M. Herve, aged 78, alleged that he entrusted the woman, Mlle. Sacho, with money to invest for him.

"It is an absolute lie," retorted Mlle. Sacho, who faced him in court. Pointing a revolver at her, M. Herve fired at a range of three feet.

Mlle. Sacho swung round and received the bullet in the back.

M. Herve tried to fire again, but the revolver was knocked from his hand by a young woman barrister, Mlle. Pascaud.

Mlle. Sacho is in a critical condition.

PHYSICIAN'S WIFE TAKES OFF 28 lbs.

And Tells You How She Did It

The wife of a London West End physician weighed 2½ stone more than she should for her height and age. How did she banish this load of ugly, dangerous fat? She took Kruschen Salts. Read her letter:—

"I had been putting on flesh alarmingly until I was weighing 2½ stone more than I should for my height and age. Ten weeks ago I commenced taking a teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts on rising in a glass of hot water as directed, with the result that I am already a stone lighter."—(Mrs.) R. R., London, W.1.

Three months later this doctor's wife was able to report further progress. She then wrote:—"I have now lost altogether 28 lbs., and am now normal for my height and age—height 5 ft. 7 ins., weight 11 stone—previous weight 13 stone."—(Mrs.) R. R., London, W.1.

The six salts in Kruschen assist the internal organs to throw off each day the wastage and poisons that encumber the system. Then, little by little, that ugly fat goes—slowly, yes, but surely.

NEW EARS FOR OLD

New ears for old is the latest feat of plastic surgery.

The operation, as demonstrated before the American Medical Association gathered at Kansas City, is rather complicated. If you do not like one of your ears it can be replaced by a synthetic ear modelled on a cartilage taken from a rib.

This provides the framework, which is then covered with skin taken from the neck. So that there should be no unsightly scar on the neck a piece of skin is taken from the thigh and grafted on the neck.

The patient is then equipped to face life anew with two ears that match. Of course, if you wish, you can have two synthetic ears.

THE POPE: "I See My End In Sight"

Rome, June 1.

POPE PIUS told a gathering of Catholic writers here today that he sees the end of his life and career in sight.

The Pope was 79 on May 31, and he was discussing this event when he hinted that he did not expect to live a great deal longer.

"When one approaches 80," said the Pope, "one cannot make long-term appointments."

"But you must remember that another will be in my place when I go. You know the ancient Roman saying: 'When a Pope dies another Pope is made.'"

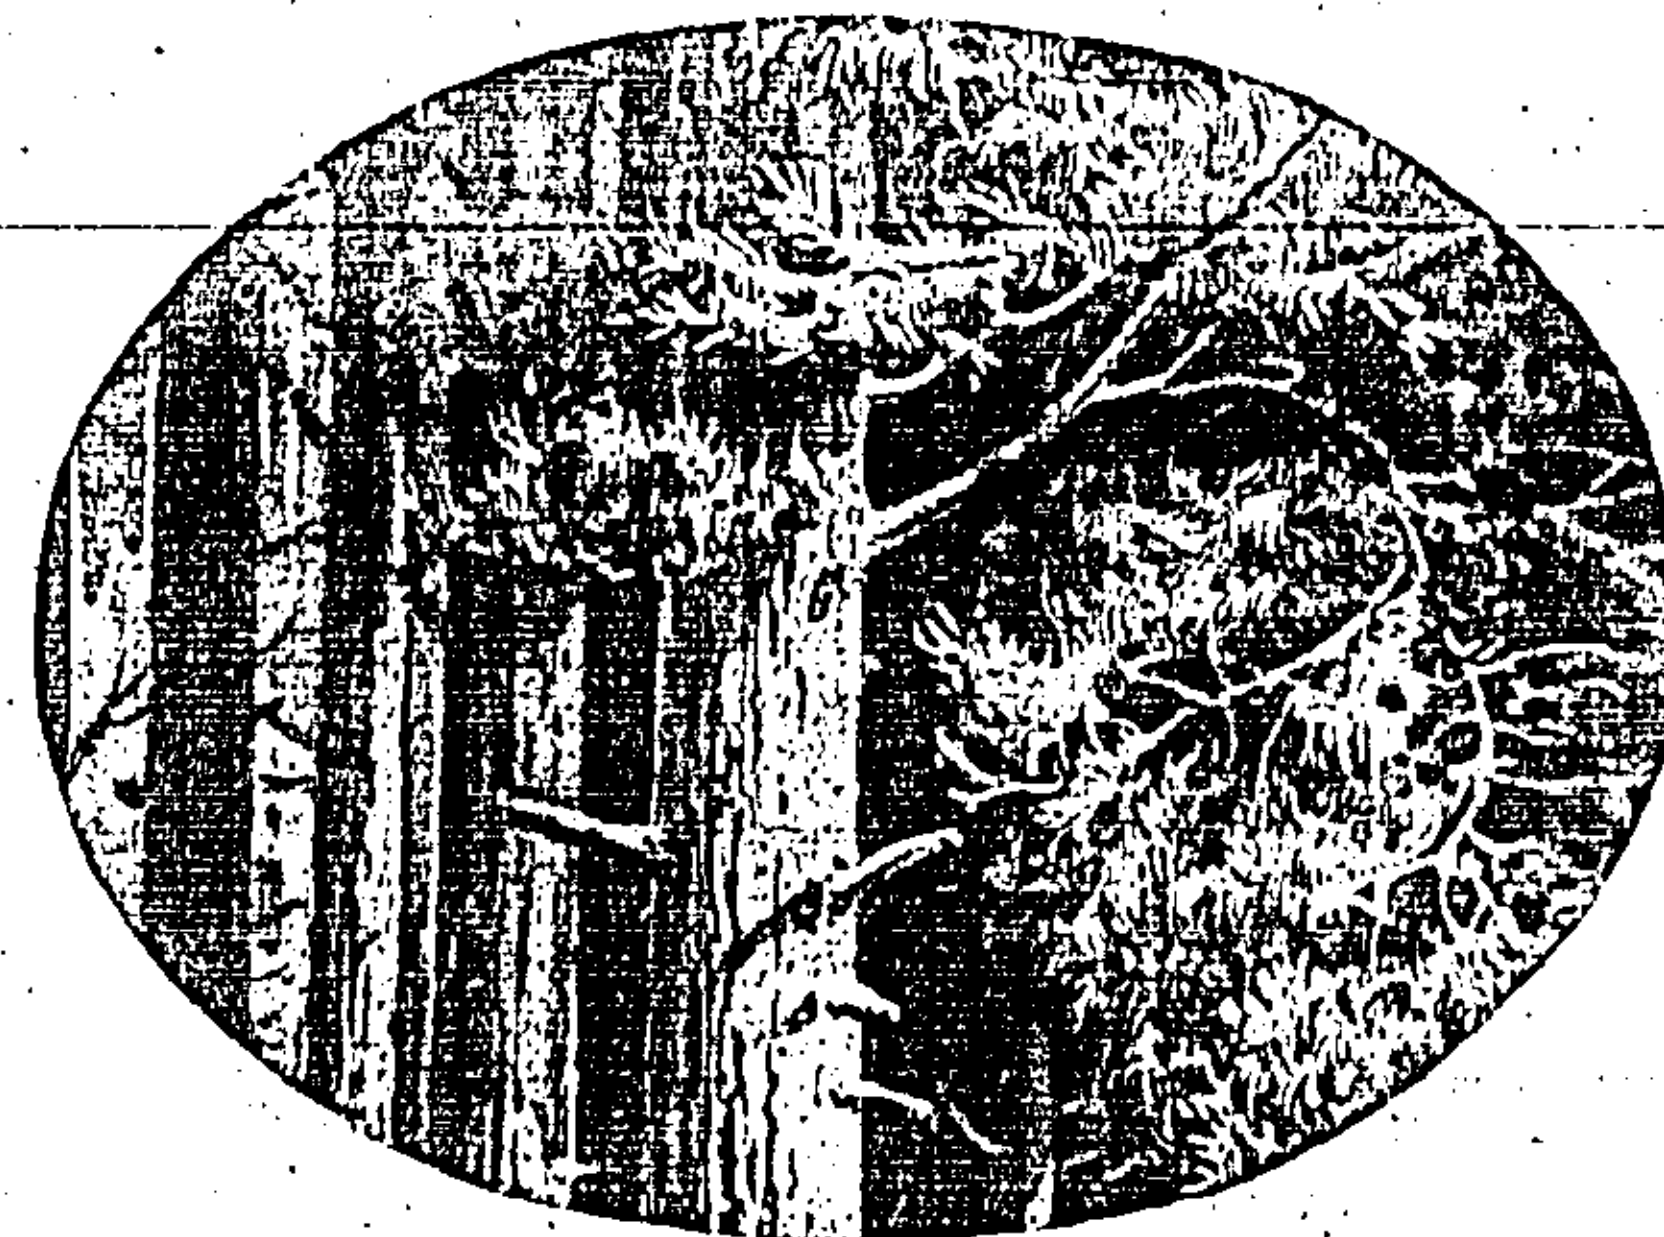

That, said Pope Pius, was a phrase of force of fate, because it indicated that the fortune of the Church was in the hands of Providence.

"Prayer is ever more necessary in these sad hysterical days," declared the Pope.

Unusual Returns Through

REALIZATION

For Afforestation Investors

The logging, pulping and marketing of softwood trees especially planted and grown for commercial purposes . . . that is Realization.

To the pioneer bondholders of N.Z.P.F., Realization means this; that they will shortly begin receiving the returns on the afforestation investments they were far-sighted enough to make.

CONSTANT REALIZATION

The softwoods planted in 1924 for these investors are fast approaching for Realization. Then will follow, year by year, the 1925, 26, 27 and subsequent plantings . . . a constant Realization of perpetual forests which now total over 163,000 acres and which are constantly being added to by new plantings.

To undertake this huge task a separate realization company has been formed . . . N.Z. Forest Products Limited, owned and controlled by the bondholders.

OPPORTUNITY FOR YOU

The same investment which the early bondholders made, you can make. The same handsome returns that are to be theirs, can be yours. Here's the opportunity.

Each £30 investment (later to be converted into a share in N.Z. Forest Products Limited) entitles you to the proceeds of one undivided acre fully planted with softwood. The estimated value of this acre, when marketed in the form of woodpulp or other products, after approximately 12 years, is £250.

Realization in afforestation is an ideal way to realization of your financial plans. In your own interests, let us send you full details.

FORCED TO TREAD ON SNAKES

SAILOR ACCUSES MAN OF MURDERING BRIDE

Los Angeles, May 28.
An accusation that a husband decided to murder his young bride by putting one of her feet into a box containing rattlesnakes is being investigated by the Los Angeles police.

Last August Mary Busch, aged 27, bride of a hairdresser, Robert James, aged 39, was found drowned in her bath. She was James's fifth wife, and had a life insurance policy for $3,500.

Now James is confronted with an extraordinary story told to the police by a former sailor named C. H. Hope, who has been arrested and charged with the wife's murder.

Declaring that James exercised a hypnotic influence over him, Hope related that he obtained for James a box of rattlesnakes from a neighbouring snake farm.

"On the day she died," continued Hope, "I walked into the house and found that he had his wife tied up with ropes. She had on only a nightgown, and her eyes and mouth were covered with adhesive tape."

"He pushed his wife's left foot down into the box where the snakes were all coiled up and hissing."

"I know one of them stuck its fangs into her, but all the others did was to wrap themselves round her leg."

Hope told the police that James, later in the day, said: "She's not dead yet. The rattlesnake poison is not working. I'm not going to waste any more time. I'm going to drown her."

James, who was arrested last month on a charge of immorality concerning his niece, aged 21 and a manicurist in his hairdresser's shop, replied to Hope's story with the words, "That guy's screwy; he will tell you anything."

TRIBUTE PAID TO MR. BYRNS

LONG SERVICE IN WASHINGTON

ALL LEADERS ATTEND

Washington, June 5.
The nation's leaders assembled today to pay tribute to the late Mr. Joseph Byrns, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Headed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Washington cast aside its political partisanship, worries about adjournment and the national party conventions, to join in the ceremonies over the bier of the eminent and homey, but highly esteemed, man from Tennessee.

The House funeral was simple, in accordance with the wishes of Mr. Byrns. The casket was placed in the well of the Chamber before the dais, where a beam of sunlight flooded the flower strewn spot, pouring through a lofty skylight.

The family of the Speaker was seated nearby.

The services started at noon and required two hours. A white uniformed Marine band orchestra played the favourite hymns of the man they mourned. Eulogies were delivered by Senator Bankhead and Representative Bertrand Snell.

For a short time the body lay in state before it was sent to Nashville, Mr. Byrns' home, for burial.

United Press.

RECEPTION FOR EMPEROR

MR. EDEN UNABLE TO ATTEND

London, June 5.
The Foreign Secretary has an engagement in his constituency to-morrow which will prevent his attending the reception being given by the Abyssinian Minister, Dr. Martin, to meet Emperor Haile Selassie, Lord Canning, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, will attend.

Among those who have accepted invitations other than the members of the Diplomatic Corps, is Mr. Lloyd George.—British Wireless.

CHEERS FOR THE ARMY

One of the many posters in Italy glorifying the nation's fighting men in Africa.

SCHUSCHNIGG SEES DUCE

CORDIAL TALKS WITH MUSSOLINI

Rome, June 5.
A communique issued to-day states that upon his return from Viareggio, Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, Austrian Chancellor, visited Il Duce at Rocca delle Caminate and engaged in a cordial conversation lasting two hours.

The two statesmen then, lunching together, and Dr. Schuschnigg afterwards flew to Venice amidst a thunder-storm.—Reuter.

In exercise of the powers conferred by section 2 of the Quarantine and Prevention of Disease Ordinance, 1936, the Governor in Council has declared the Kai Tak Civil Airport to be an "Authorised Aerodrome," on which aircraft may make their first landing on entering the Colony and which they may make their place of departure on leaving the Colony, and also to be a "Sanitary Aerodrome," organised and equipped as provided in paragraphs (1) to (VIII) of the definition of "Sanitary Aerodrome" in the said section of the said Ordinance.

ARAB LEADERS IN LONDON

MAY MEET FOREIGN OFFICE HEADS

London, June 5.
The Mayor of Jerusalem, who is an Arab, is visiting England for a three-months' holiday.

It is understood that two or three other Arab leaders are also coming here.

While they are in London they may hold unofficial conferences at the Foreign Office with regard to the situation in Palestine.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

PORTUGUESE BOYS FOUND

NOT KIDNAPPED AFTER ALL

The two Portuguese boys, Francis Rew (16) and John Rew (12), of the St. Louis Industrial Home, West Point, who had been reported missing since Monday last, have now been found and returned to the Home.

It was at first feared that the lads had been kidnapped, but they were found in Wanchai yesterday by the police. It is stated that the boys had run away from the Home.

LEAGUE COUNCIL MEETS JUNE 27

ASSEMBLY SUMMONED FOR JUNE 30

London, June 5.
A Geneva message states the date of the next meeting of the League of Nations Council is given officially as June 27.

The Assembly is being summoned to meet three days later.—British Wireless.

FAMOUS WORKS OF ART

CHRISTIE'S SALE NEXT MONTH

London, June 5.
A collection of mediaeval and Renaissance works of art and classical antiquities, which is remarkable among those of recent times, will be disposed of at Christie's famous auction rooms during the sale next month of the Henry Oppenheimer Collection.

The sale will last from July 10 to July 29, three days being allotted to drawings by old masters including Leonardo da Vinci, Michelangelo, Durer, Holbein and Goya, two days to engravings and water colours, when etchings by Rembrandt and a notable series of Durer prints will come under the hammer, two days to Egyptian, Greek and Roman antiquities, three days to medals, plaques, ivories, three days to jewels, enamels, portholes, porcelain, statuettes and busts of the mediaeval and renaissance periods.—British Wireless.

NEGUS' FUTURE PLANS

MAY SHORTLY GO TO LAUSANNE

London, June 5.
The Emperor of Ethiopia, who is in London incognito, drove this morning to the Cenotaph, where he placed a wreath. He was accompanied by the Crown Prince, Ras Kassa, and the Abyssinian Minister. A large crowd in Whitehall watched the ceremony.

During the afternoon, the Foreign Secretary paid a courtesy call on the Emperor at his house in Kensington. Mr. Anthony Eden remained about half an hour.

Newspapers suggest that the Emperor may shortly proceed to Switzerland, where he owns a residence at Lausanne.—British Wireless.
